

FIGHT THE SQUAT BAN!

SQUATTERS HAVE BEEN organising against Tory plans to rehouse 50,000 homeless people in cells and cardboard boxes.

A Squatters Information Network (SIN) has been coordinated by Squatters Action for Secure Homes

CONTACT the Homeless Occupiers Project, 612 Old Kent Road, London SE15 (tel: 071 277 7639) to join the campaign against criminalisation.

FREE FESTIVALS FINISHED?

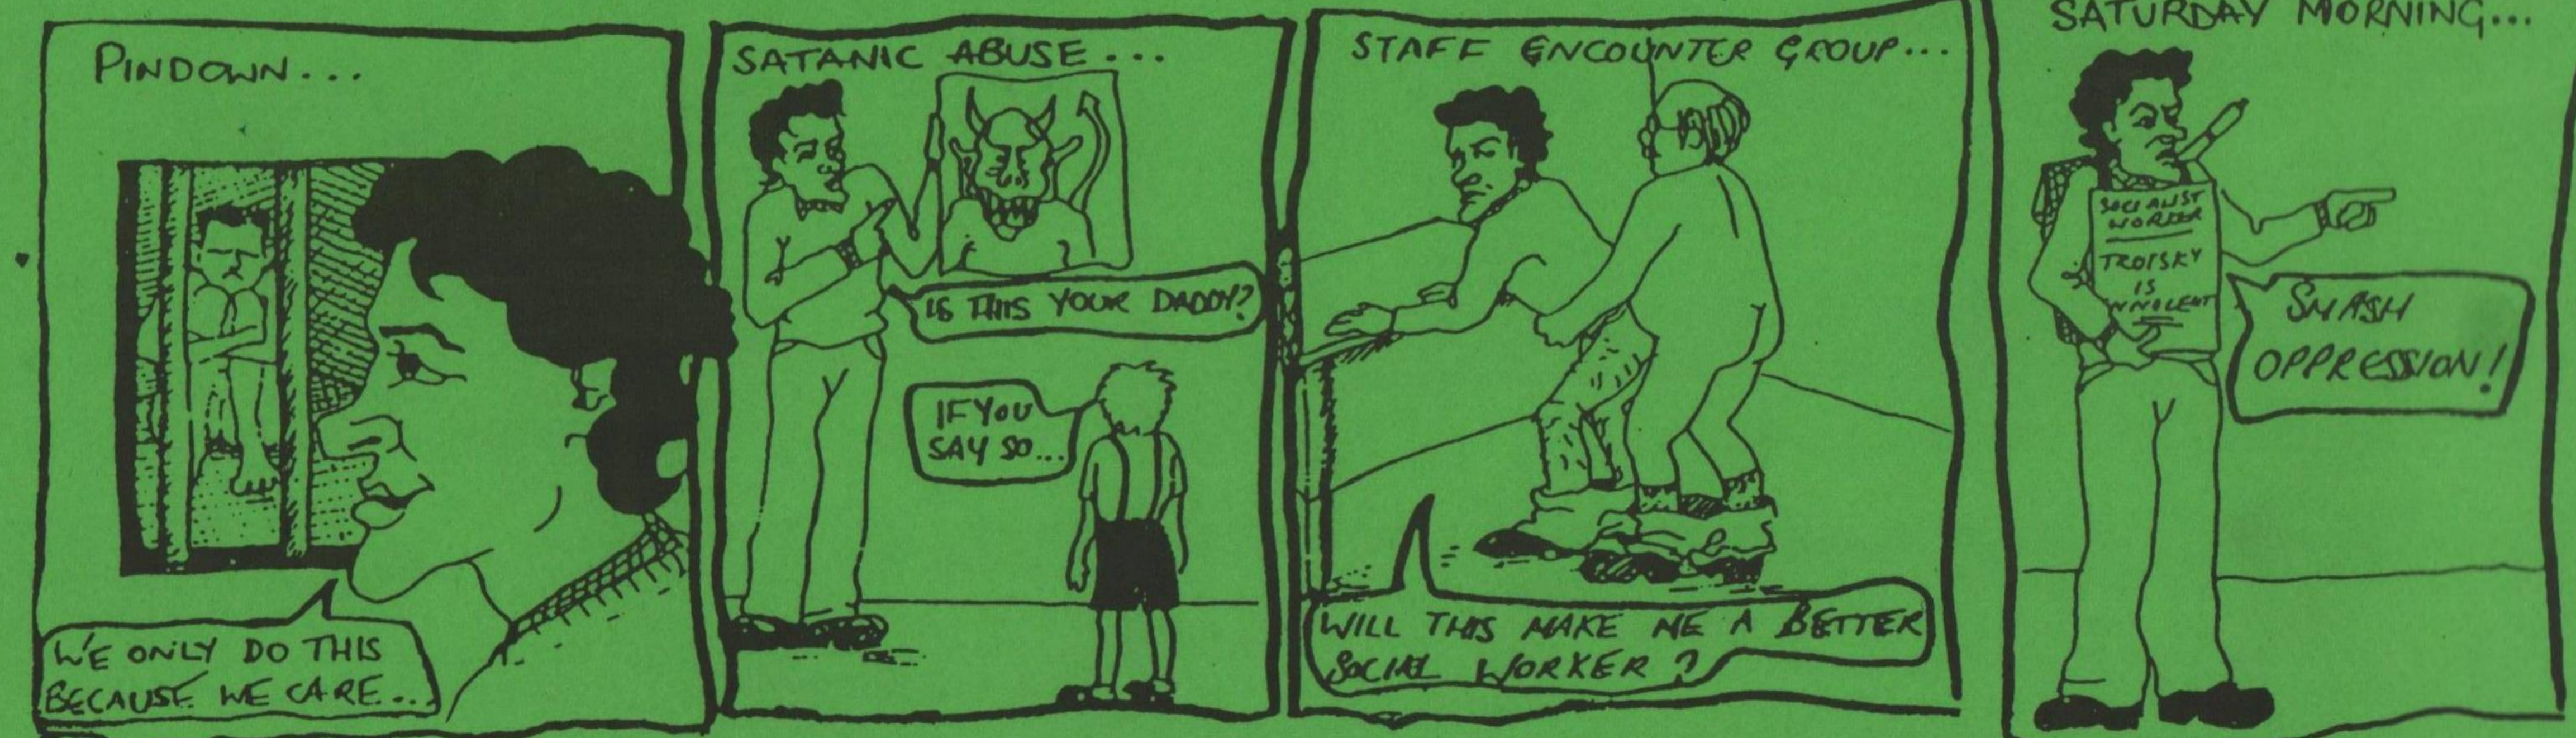

"We have not come here to protest our lack of freedom but to celebrate the freedom already there."

Peter Todd, 1984

WHAT BOLLOX! Most festie folk bottled out of the Stonehenge land struggle the year after the exclusion zone came down in 1989, going to Glastonbury or anywhere else they didn't have to fight for their rights.

This year, everyone's gonna have to cop the shit for their cop-out. The '92 festie season opened in April with a 4-mile exclusion zone around Hungerford Common and cops have been round park-ups serving injunctions on all the old sites for Avon. Soon, our only 'free' space is going to be Pilton, with pigs on site, travellers banned and £50 tickets paying for the fence to keep them out.

Lord Spenser wants the '86 Public Order Act strictly enforced (no festie bigger than 12 vehicles?) and vehicle checks too. That's before the new Criminal Law Act bans squatting (land as well as brick!) in November. So stand your ground and fight for your rights now - there isn't anywhere to run to anymore!

ROUNDHOUSE RIP-OFF

SQUATTING AND FREE FESTIVAL movements were dealt a body-blow as money raised at the New Year's Eve SQUASH benefit at the Roundhouse was ripped off.

Kristoff Glinka, Stonehenge Union treasurer and organiser of the shambolic benefit, accuses 'anarcho-squatters' Spiral Tribe and Circus Normal of ripping off a minimum of £5000. He also alleges that £500+ needed for the Beanfield Trial appeal [see GA28] and this year's fest list was extorted from him and his girlfriend by Musicians Network.

SQUASH founders, the Advisory Service for Squatters (ASS), confirm Spiral Tribe grossly ripped them off but accuse Kristoff and fellow Henge veteran, Willy X, of doing likewise. Summoned to a SQUASH meeting, Willy X promised ASS £500 of what was owed as a "reward" for stopping his eviction from site the next day. According to SQUASH, he turned up with neither money nor summons, turned nasty when questioned, and called the cops when ASS defended themselves.

As a result, SQUASH got no money to fight the forthcoming squat ban and lost their meeting place at Shelter HQ due to damage done in the scrap.

You tell us who's ripping off who. All GA want to say is if the movement goes into a fucked up feeding frenzy over a few thousand quid, how the hell are we going to get in together to fight capitalism?

STUDENTS BITE BACK

RISING RENTS, falling grants, termination of housing benefit and overcrowding provoked a wave of student occupation, demos and canteen boycotts in November and December.

20+ colleges were occupied and some held out for a month before being broken up by injunctions and the Christmas holidays. Despite this, Glasgow and Thames Polys won rent and canteen price reductions.

This year students facing rent rises should squat, not pay.

THIS IS GREEN ANARCHISM

CIVILIZATION IS EXPLOITATION

Mass society is too complex to work without specialisation. Specialised division of labour alienates us from each other and creates a hierarchy needed to coordinate production. Hierarchy divides society into the powerful and powerless. The powerless are treated as objects to be exploited. Exploitation on grounds of class, gender, ethnicity and sexual preference is intrinsic to mass society. Mass society cannot be reformed. It must be replaced.

SMALL IS BEAUTIFUL

Mass society must be replaced with communities small enough for each person in them to be respected as an autonomous individual. In small communities, self-determination would replace hierarchy. You can't fight mass with mass. If our means and ends are to be consistent, we must organise in networks of autonomous small groups to replace mass society with them.

LAND OR DEATH

Mass society alienates people from the Earth. By controlling the Earth's resources, the State controls society. We must end our dependence on the State by taking back the land and living self-sufficiently. By re-establishing our relationship with the Earth, we undermine the hierarchical thinking that is destroying it.

REVOLUTION ON THE PERIPHERY

Mass society needs resources from across the planet to survive. Those most exploited by it are those that work the land in the Third World, only to have the fruits of their labour exported to profit the rich. They have nothing to lose by taking back the land at the expense of mass society. As less resources are imported from the Third World, mass society won't be able to come up with the goods in this country. Self-governing, self-sufficient small communities will be more needed and easier to establish as the State loses control of the rest of the planet.

AUTONOMY NOW

We must support the revolution on the periphery by making our own here. We must share the skills needed to survive without the State, create a culture of resistance to free us from the alienation of mass society, live free of exploitation by boycotting banks and multinationals, building an alternative green and black economy and defending ourselves and the Earth by taking direct action against military bases and labs, developers and industry, exploitation and intolerance.

Do you agree with us?
Then you're a green anarchist!
Why not become a contact?

FIVE HUNDRED YEARS OF RESISTANCE

IN 1492, by supporting the Spanish Inquisition's persecution of the Jews, Christopher Columbus started Western 'civilization's' invasion of America. In fifty years, 20 million Indians were dead of disease and Christianity, ground under the heels of genocidal Conquistadors like Cortes and Pizarro. 'Progress' then decimated indigenous peoples north of the Rio Grande and the slaughter and rape of Nature continues in the south to this day. Worth celebrating? Is it FUCK!

Indians have never accepted the imperialist yoke. At Wounded Knee, Oka and Big Mountain, at Altemeira and Quito, for half a millenium they resisted whilst we Europeans acquiesced. Why? Because they're closer to the land, the source of all liberation? Land redistribution is top of their agenda.

Last year Dutch activists sunk a mock-up of Columbus's ship and dedicated the mast sticking out of the harbour as a monument to Indian resistance. We should show the same solidarity.

GREEN ANARCHIST RE-ORGANIZES

You've waited six months for it and we hear Richard Hunt's been going around in a sulk telling folk GA isn't coming out anymore, but here it is!

We've taken the intervening time to re-organize GA from a paper into a movement. If you've read the mag before and wanted to act on what you've read, now's your chance! If you tap into the Contacts list or put yourself down for Urgent Action Bulletins [p.23], you'll find things are busy, busy, busy!

GA itself has now decentralised. If you want to contribute to the mag or get involved with the movement, the address is now via Oxford Green Anarchists, Box ZZ, 34 Cowley Road. If you want to subscribe or streetsell, the address is now Autonomy, PO Box 29, Lancaster LA2 9RR. And if you want to contribute to or buy any of our amazing range of sales goods, GA Mail Order can be contacted via Alder Valley Anarchists c/o 151b London Road, Camberley, Surrey GU15 3JY.

As a result of the decentralisation, GA should now be out more often - meaning more up-to-date news and events listings - and as we're now getting it printed, you'll actually be able to read what's written in it! We're sorry about the bloody enormous price hike as a result. All we can say is that the world's profiting from it, not us. We're still supplying GA free to prisoners and now also Eastern Europe - the economy is so fucked up there it would be a crime not to.

Your participation is what makes green anarchy happen - be seeing you!

LIE NAILED

Trendy Paul Gravett admitted writing lies about GA in the 1992 Anarchist Yearbook (see GA29). In a letter of apology he gave us at last year's Greenpeace Fair, he withdrew his allegation that Green Anarchist "refused to support the miners", not least because he had an article printed in GA4, the very issue in which our support was expressed!

GA's current editor was arrested during a 1984 Day of Action in support of the miners in Bedford, occupied the local radio station and was involved in the 1985 Whitehall Riot. Other green anarchists fought the cops at Orgreave!

Yearbook editor, Mo, said he didn't have time to check the accuracy of Gravett's article before printing it but promises "it won't happen again".

NEXT GA: In GA31, we'll be running a double core - Education: Exploitation or Liberation?/Fighting Fascism. Your news, views and reviews on either of these topics and anything else would be appreciated. For the Education core, we'd particularly like to hear from school students.

L.A. STOP THE CITY

WHO DIDN'T CHEER when the IRA cast their vote on April 10th? Aside from spiking gloating stockbrokers cocktails with flying glass, a cool billion was lost to the UK economy and the City stopped for two days.

The IRA nack for knocking out undefendable commuter lines with a few pounds of home-brewed explosive is an economy-crippling winner too.

Bollox to the politics, the tactics are brill! Hit the infrastructure, right?

L.A. ALL THE WAY!

"I am only effective as long as there is a shadow on white America of the black man standing behind me with a Molotov cocktail."

Martin Luther King

WHEN SIX LOS ANGELES pigs were acquitted even after a jury was shown videos of them beating the shit out of Black motorist, Rodney King, on May 5th, the people realised they owed nothing to racist State society and started ripping the city apart. In the next two days, rioting spread to cities across the USA before being quelled by the military.

Pissed off? Don't vote, lie in the road so the cops to beat you up or beg for State concessions, RIOT!!!

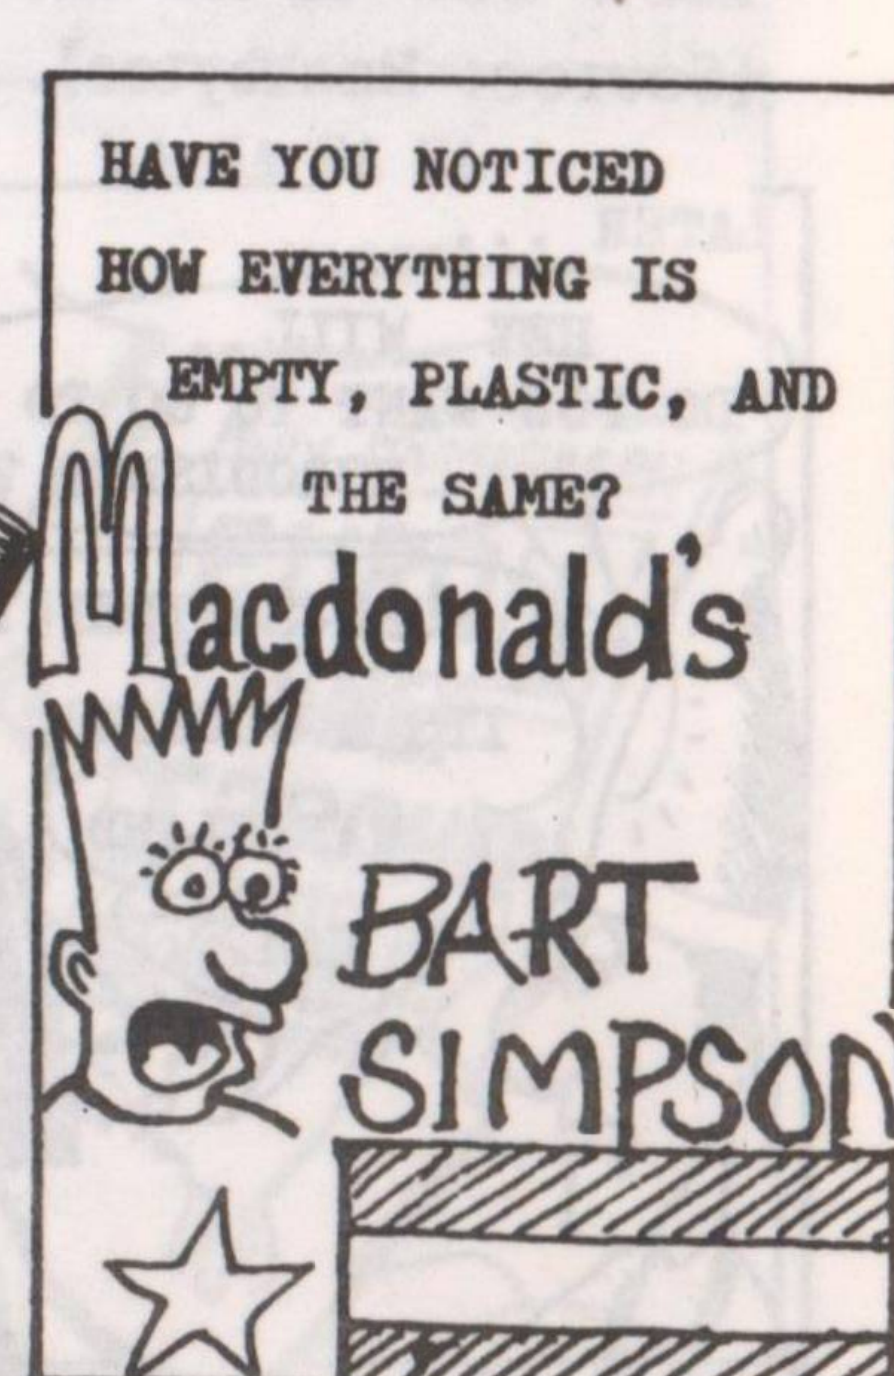

TOP OF THE POPS

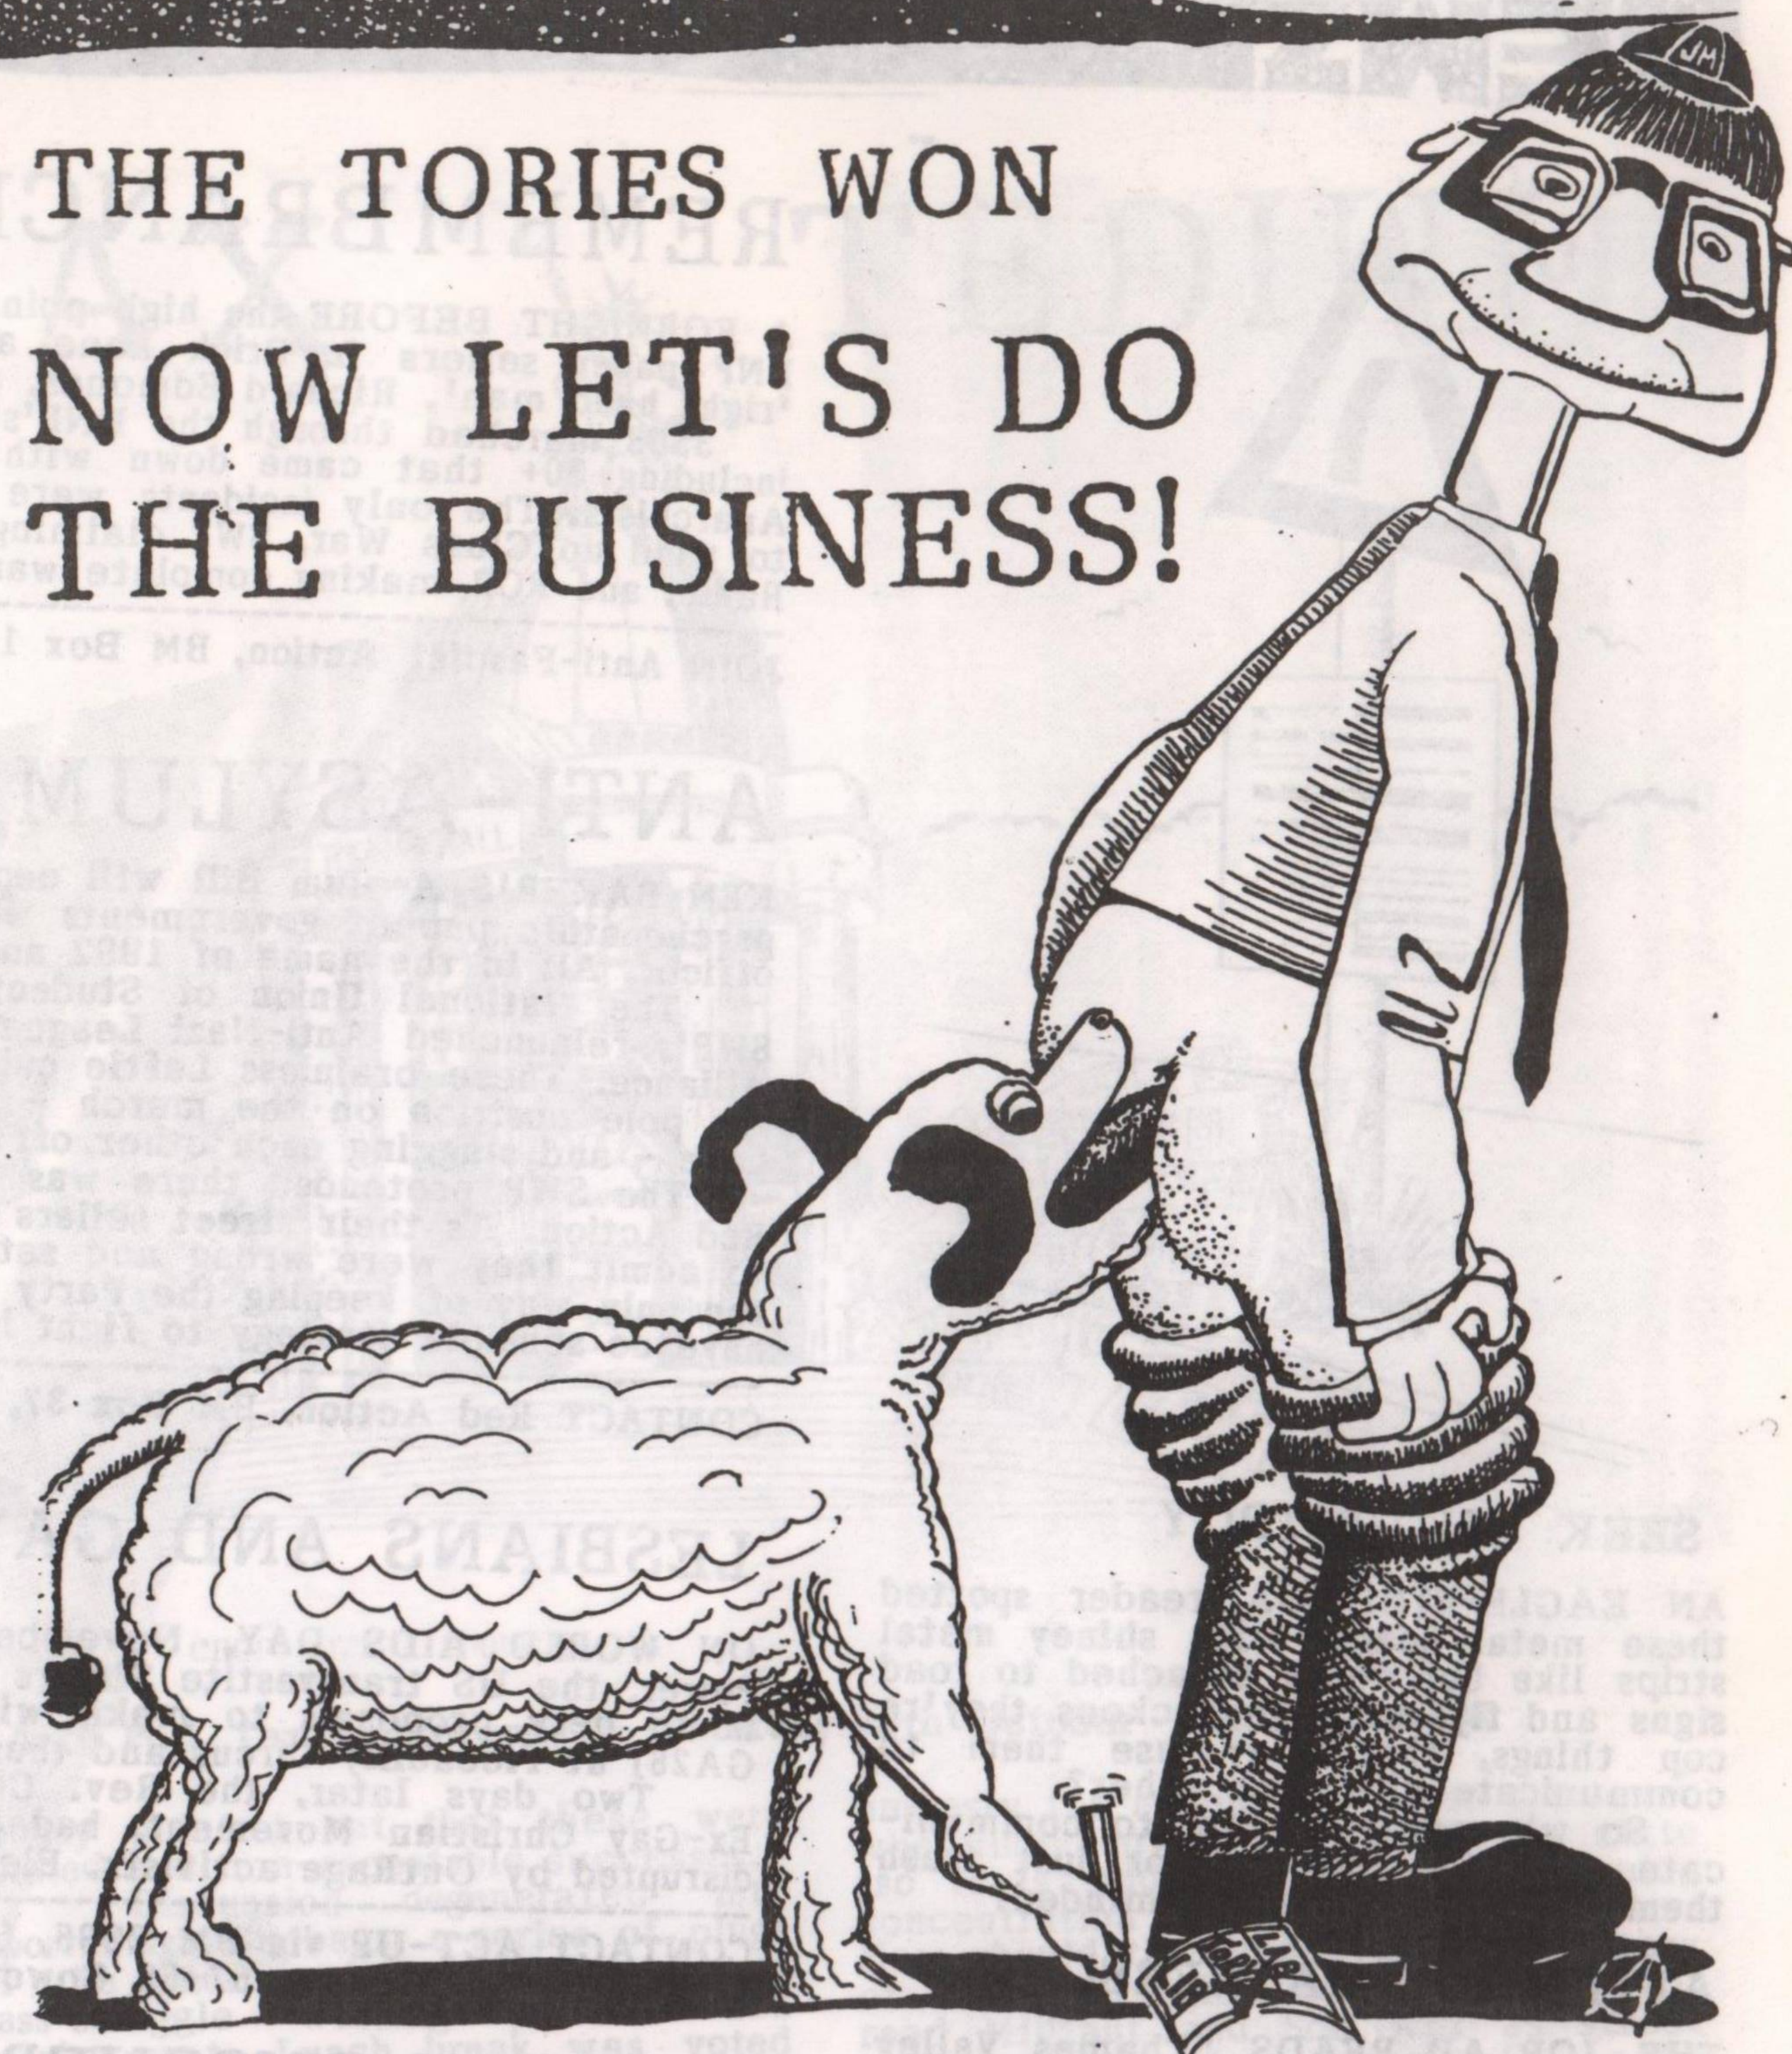

#1. The "anti-poll tax activists" that egged Major during his Bolton walk-about and sent the scum scurrying back to his battle bus. Use a battery next time, eh? Should spoil the PM's future photo-opportunities!

#2. Red Action for revenging the failed 1991 anti-fascist march on Bermondsey by pulverising local BNP prospective MP, Steve Tyler, and his bodyguard on a station platform in the run-up to the election. Tyler had to toast his dismal election defeat through an NHS straw!!

#3. The anarchist that boshed the Freedom Association's Norris McWhirter on his visit to Lancaster Uni in November. He sent McWhirter's two Economic League photographers scurrying off to hide in the Beadle's office. That's what GA calls a real record breaker!!!

THE TORIES WON NOW LET'S DO THE BUSINESS!

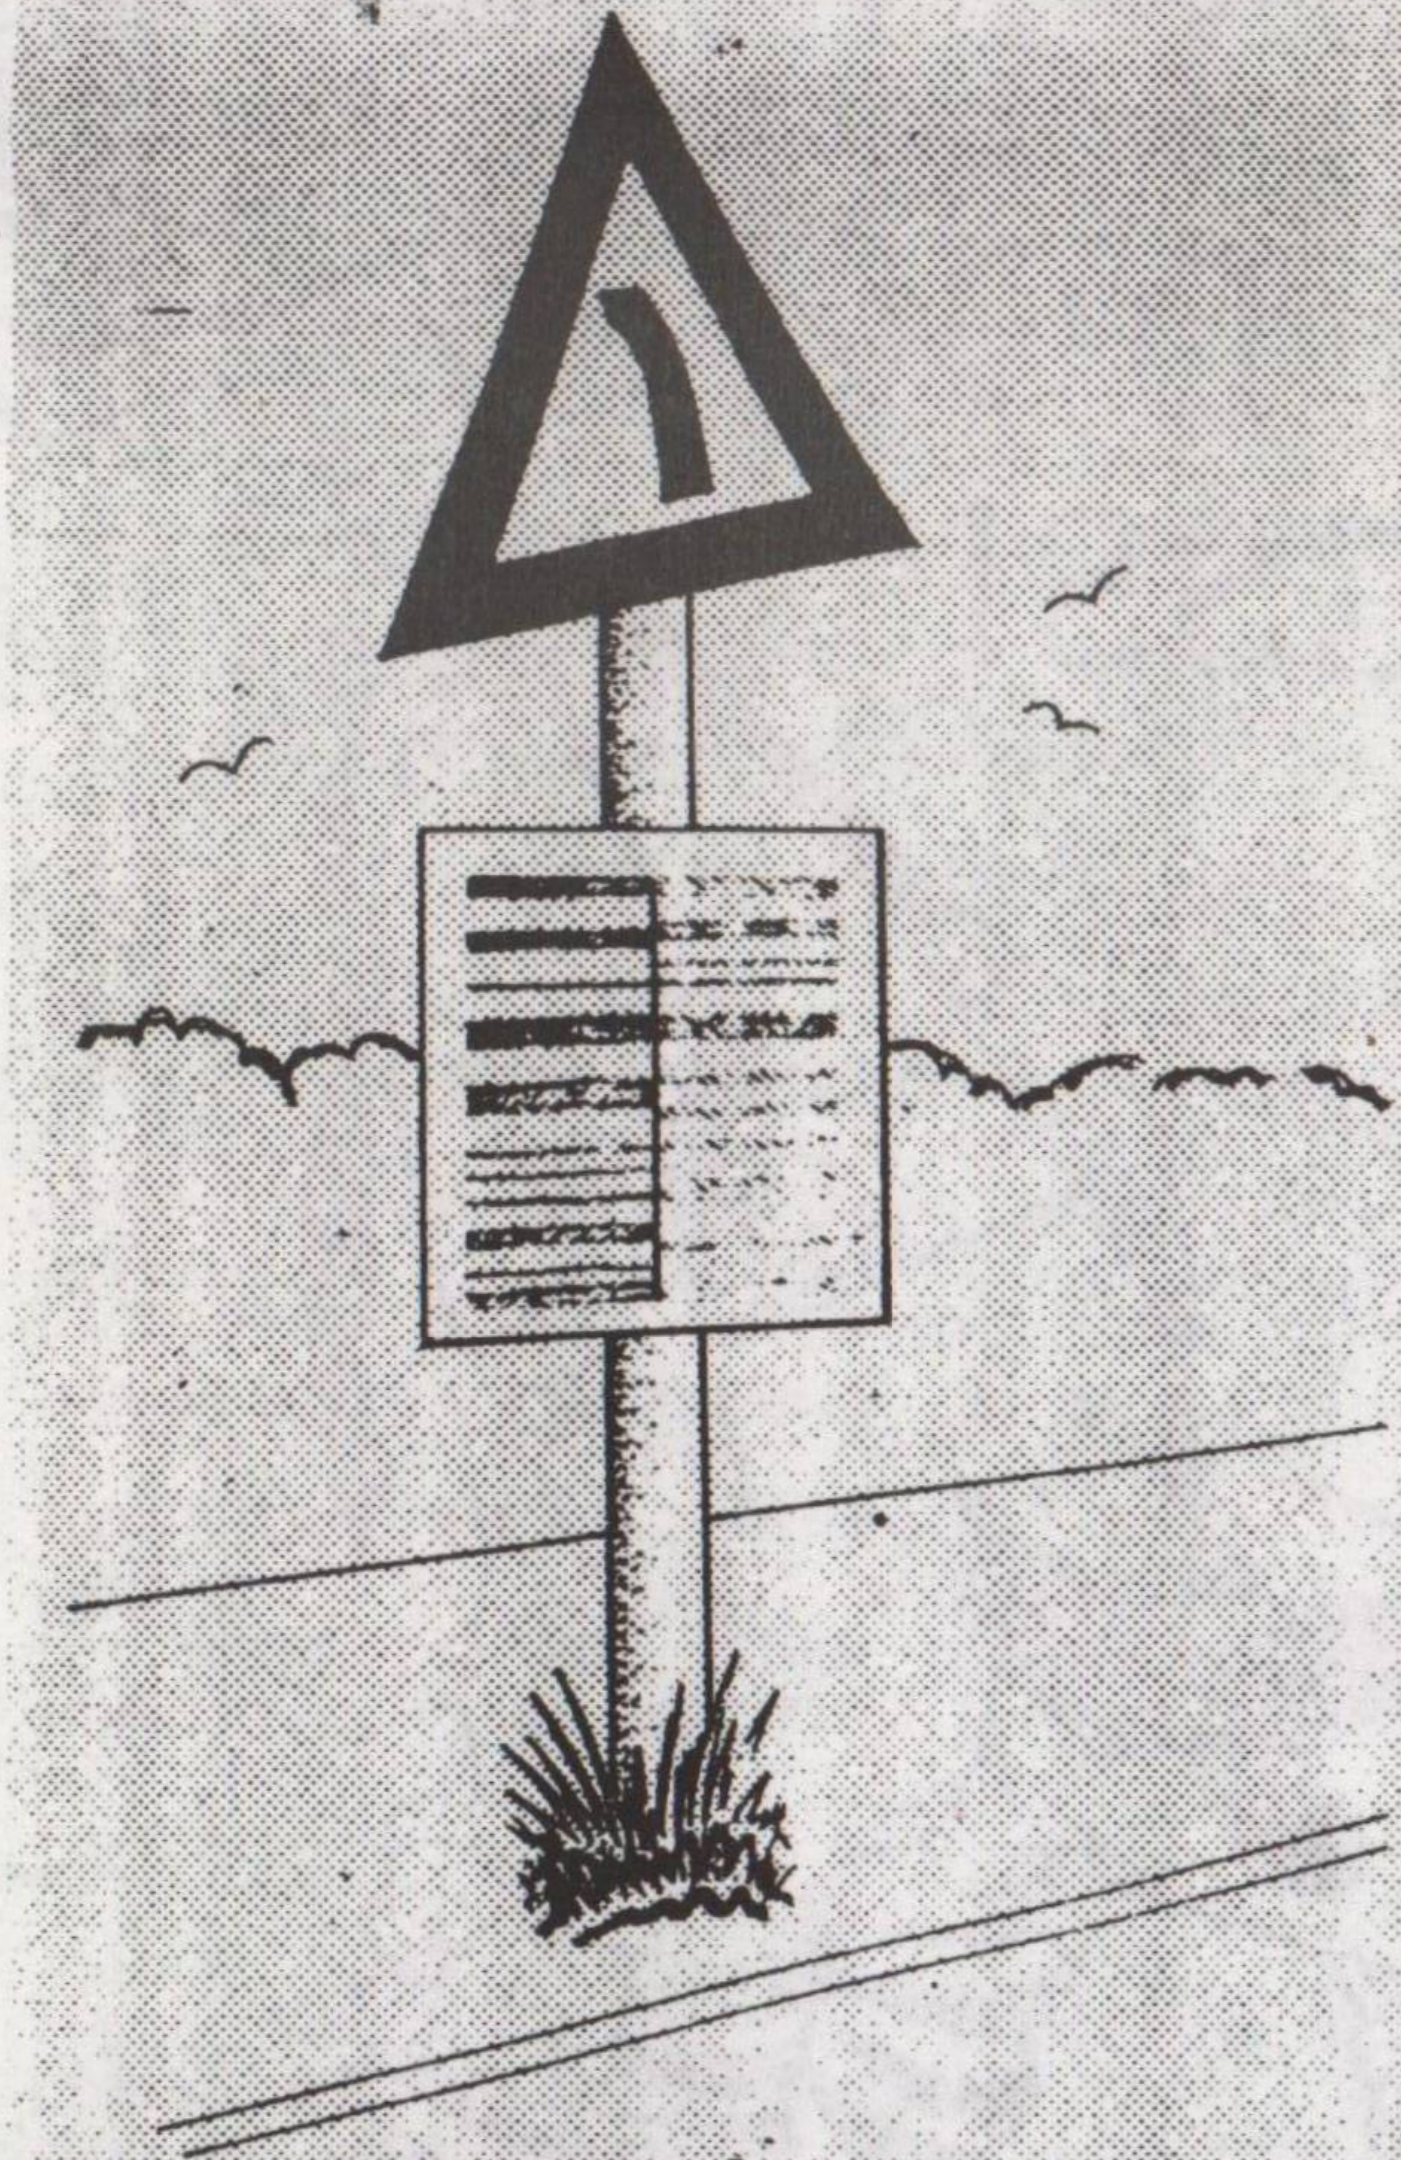

Isn't this amazing Norma.. No matter how many times I crap in this stupid sheep's mouth it still votes for us...

SO THE TORIES WON on April 9th? So fucking what! We're not a bunch of Lefties crying in our beer and kidding ourselves that a Kinnock/Hattersley government would have made any difference to our lives. Who said squatters should be crushed and poll tax resisters hammered? Who argued for yet more cops and yet more fucking taxes, yet more State control over our lives? Who sold out every last principle to get power and turned Walworth Road into a hall of whippers? Yeah - so good riddance to bad rubbish, eh?

GA chipped in for the April 4th Anti-Election rally, and we were in Trafalgar Square cos the Home Office tried to ban it, and we'd have pitched in if the cops had tried to nick Class War's Tim Scargill just for being there. Why? Because we're anarchists and a State is a State. Whatever party runs it, it exists to fuck us over! It's down to us to destroy it - or don't you believe what was said in the Square that day?

If you want an exploitation-free society, this one's got to go. Turn anger, frustration, despair into action. If people are fucked off with footing the State's bills, tell them not to pay. If pampered Basildon types won't heed your words, find others who've got nothing to lose by bringing down this shit system and shaking the privileged up. Better we are all our own masters amongst the ruins than slaves in the State's gilded cage!

SEEK 'N' DESTROY

AN EAGLE-EYED GA reader spotted these metal boards with shiny metal strips like bar codes attached to road signs and flyovers. He reckons they're cop things, that they use them to communicate with each other?

So why not use them to communicate with the old bill, or just trash them if you're less artsy-minded?

REMEMBRANCE DAY MARCH

A FORTNIGHT BEFORE the high point of the anti-fascist year, AFA clashed with BNP paper sellers in Brick Lane and Red Action got John Tyndall's cringing 'right hand man', Richard Edmonds, at Charing Cross Station.

3500 marched through the BNP's Bethnal Green heartland on November 10th, including 30+ that came down with WARFARE, Alder Valley and Oxford Green Anarchists. The only incidents were two arrests in a clash with the cops trying to wind up Class War, SWP claiming to have organised AFA's march on Capital Radio, and RCP making complete wankers of themselves at the end of the march.

ANTI-ASYLUM BILL DEMO

KEN BAKER'S Asylum Bill will deport refugees like Kurds and Iranian exiles to psychopathic puppet governments with no appeal except to a racist immigration officer. All in the name of 1992 and European economic exclusion...

The National Union of Students' January 18th march was hijacked by the SWP's relaunched Anti-Nazi League and Farrakhan sympathisers, the Anti-Racist Alliance. These brainless Leftie cults spent the entire march jostling each other for pole position on the march - ignoring a dozen NF jeering them from Park Lane - and slagging each other off at the rally afterwards.

The SWP pretended there was no fascist threat until late last year to spite Red Action. As their street sellers kept getting boshed by fascists, they then had to admit they were wrong and set up the ANL. Now they're hyping fascism as the only way of keeping the Party going now Leninism's died with the USSR, but have no sensible strategy to fight it. So much hassle to sell so few papers!

ALBERT DRYDEN

IN JUNE last year, Derwentside council came to bulldoze the cottage Albert spent his redundancy money on. Faced with pennilessness and homelessness, Albert did what we'd all do, defending his land by shooting those responsible [see GA29].

In May, he was convicted of murder at Newcastle-upon-Tyne Crown Court. The media said he was a crazy, but 100 friends cheering him outside weren't fooled. At 51, Albert could die inside before getting parole. We must see he doesn't.

LAST JUNE Martin went over the wall [see GA28], but there's no fairy tale ending to his story. In January, he was recaptured and his health hasn't got better. He's in constant pain now and can't even climb stairs.

Martin's case has been taken up by Liberty and the old bill know he was framed by West Midlands Serious Crimes Squad. POLL TAX TEDIUM

HELP SAVE A RAIN FOREST... CHOP DOWN A COUNCIL....

Ivor Ichabod reports on the Independent Anti Poll Tax Conference - Saturday 26th October - in Manchester

GLUM A.P.T. ACTIVISTS gathered in Manchester for the conference to end all conferences - and all brain cells.

The Town Hall, a massive Victorian Gothic Folly, could have been the set for a 1930's horror movie. Thick curtains shrouded the stage, and screens shielded sundry listening devices. Portraits of 19th Century Philanthropists glowered down on the huddled masses below, while the Grandfather Clock nearby had stopped at 10 to 4, reflecting the time warp most of those present were in.

Little did we realise until one speaker told us that we are part of a massive success story of class-resistance to the Poll Tax. Nobody asked why people are still going to jail or why this "class-resistance" could only muster 92 activists.

But it wasn't all jokes and hilarity. Some facts cracked through the self-reinforcing spiral of decline. Two Poll Tax activists had won elections in Trelwys and Bedrino and speakers hoped for a general placing of APT candidates in elections. Electoral politics? Oh fuck, here we go again...

Nobody pointed out that these were isolated and non-repeatable successes.

Discussion degenerated into opportunity windbags, a series of plugs for the four and twenty brands of class-struggle washing powder and Marxist rant. Lunch break was voted on and reduced to 15 minutes to allow this to go on. The delegate from Durham Jail, Pensioner Norman Laws threatened to set up a party in opposition to Kinnock, so the Dictatorship of the Proletariat might triumph over Kinnock's Thatcherism.

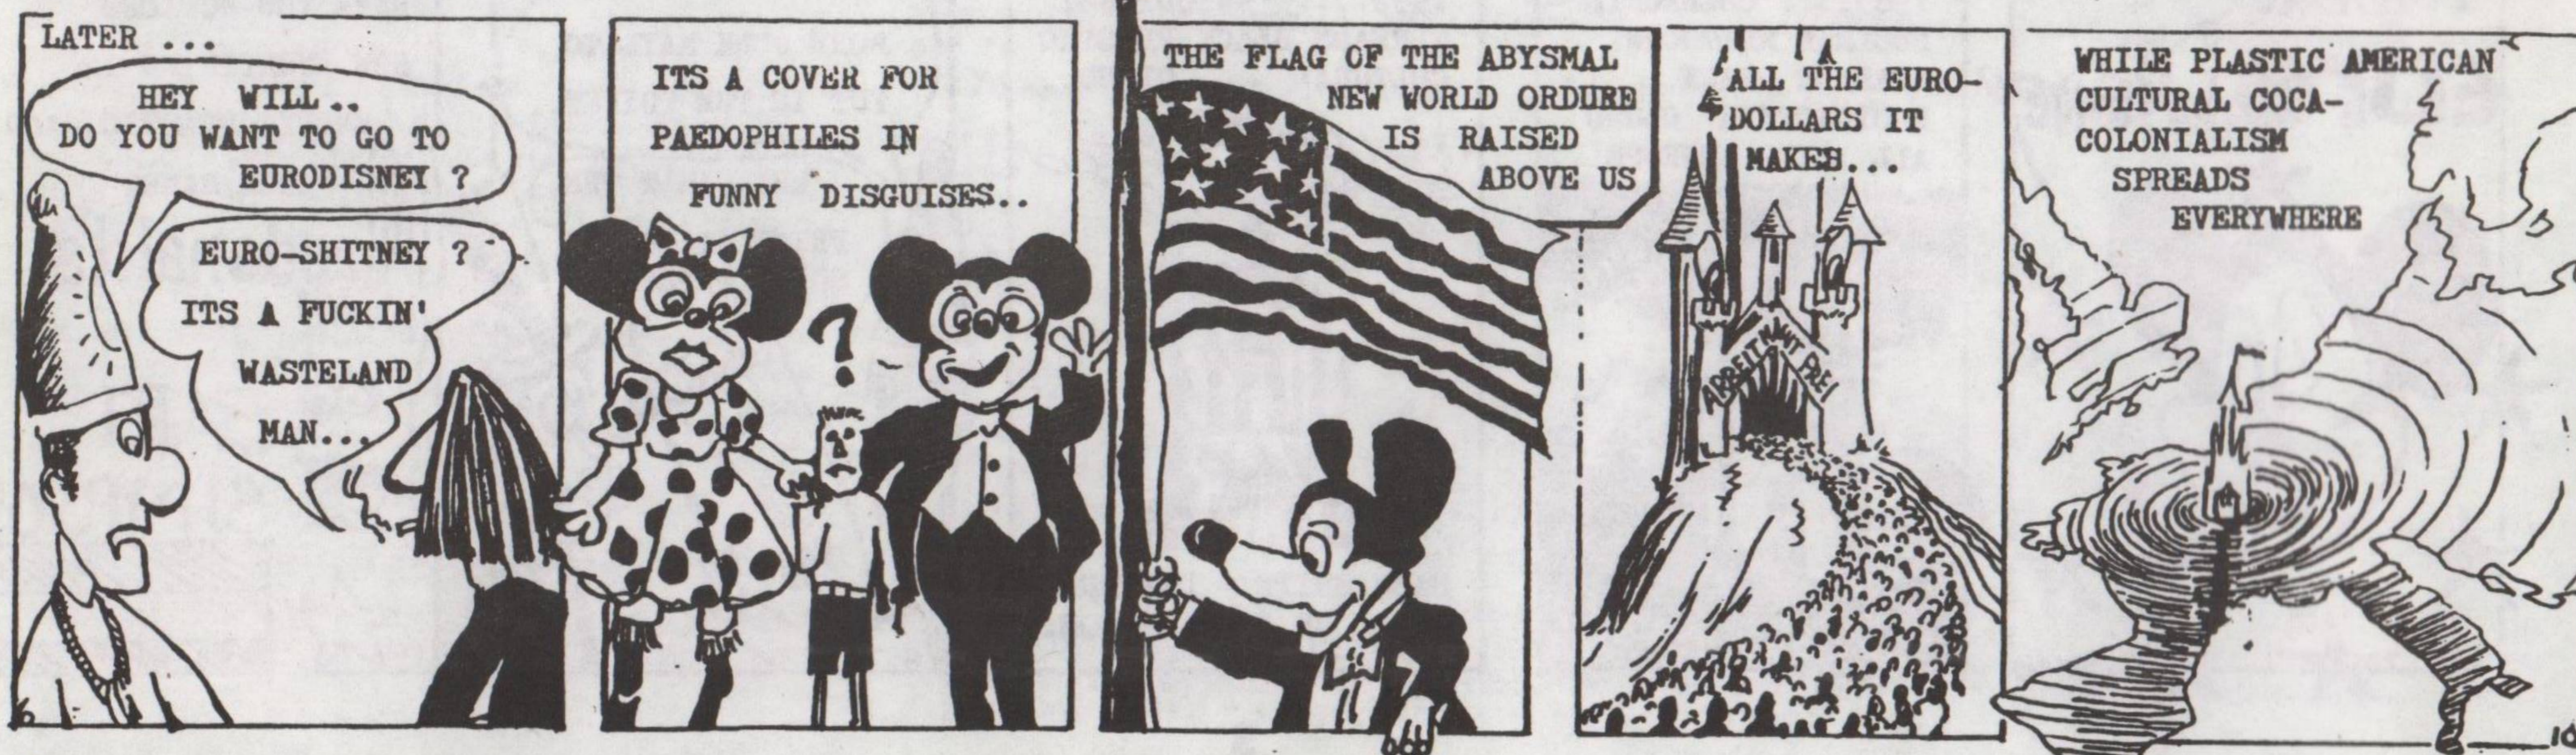

The highlight of the morning was two 'council workers' trying to lower contact microphones onto the window panes. This attempt to 'put up Christmas lights' was neither convincing nor successful.

Interest in the morning sessions ended abruptly when the hungry horde of Guild-Socialists, Marxist losers, and long forgotten Communists from the antediluvian swamps stampeded for the food at lunchtime.

Munching veggies, it dawned on us that this was the anti poll tax event of the year. The previous Saturday, 2,000 marched in London demanding amnesty for nonpayers. After this over whelming show of strength, the state (so it is said) is considering opening concentration camps for non-payers. How should the "massive success story of class struggle" respond? Why not read Militant and Soc Wok as street sold outside the venue? Or non-violently oppose it by chaining oneself to the gas-chamber door? You might wade through mounds of legal bullshit, or join hands and empathise with your oppressors... The major fault with the thinking in the hall was too much emphasis on winning concessions from the system or seeking legal remedies, and not enough to empowering people.

We realised the Independent Poll Tax movement reflects the crap state of 'radical' opposition today. Instead of autonomous activity and the lack of our need for Council Bureaucracy, we had wandered into a late Victorian political time-warp of resolutions, committees, amorphous talk of non-existent class-struggles. Riots, not resolutions, got rid of the poll tax. Grass-roots solidarity, and not smoke-filled committees are what will enable us to continue the fight against it...

GREEN ANARCHY RISING!

GREEN 2000's electoral efforts proved as pathetic as we predicted at the 1991 Wolverhampton Party Conference. Green Party fuhrer Sara 'The Mouth' Parkin was so inept that her cronies are axing her, the Manifesto is being replaced by eco-fascist rantings about population and immigration controls, and the Party itself is folding as it's now financially and ideologically bankrupt.

The Rio Earth Summit ended with the usual bland amalgam of party political broadcasts. The Lords of the Earth'll be pressing the tax boot a bit harder on our necks, but not enough to put General Motors out of pocket. In other words, they'll be doing fuck all for the planet - pretty much what we all expected.

Are we downhearted? ARE WE FUCK! Grassroot Greens have always known what a bunch of tossers politicians are. After the Wolves '91 sell-out, we started decentralising and organising ourselves to save the planet...

THE SHIP ACTIONS

Above: Earth First! occupation of Liverpool docks, February 27th

EARTH FIRSTIERS have been carrying the Sarawak wood war home, blockading imports on British quaysides.

TILBURY

At dawn, December 4th, Sea Shepherds Conservation Society, Lea Valley and Oxford EF! crossed the Thames at Gravesend, to Tilbury Docks using Brighton Sea Action dinghies. The Sea Shepherds attached a 'Timber Imports = Rainforest Death' banner to the hull of the M V Singa Wiltstream with magnets (shame it wasn't limpet mines!) and others got onto the dock's lock gate to delay the ship's arrival.

140+ assailed Tilbury Docks from the landward side. Main Gate was blocked with a 50' inflatable chainsaw and lorries turned away. In the next three hours, 30 got in through the fence and in the back of vans. They got a stroppy reception from the dockers, scabs left over from a 1989 attempt to unionise. A forklift trucker attacked a woman from South Downs EF! chained to a pile of rainforest wood and another tried to throw a protester from a crane to concrete 40' below!

Later, Lea Valley EF! used the Sea Action boats upriver from Tilbury at the Thames River Crossing near Dartford. As the Queen was opening it at the time, the River Police got all irate and rammed them off the river.

LIVERPOOL

The Liverpool action started on February 27th. 400 EF!ers spent two days trying to stop the timber ship, Nips, from docking. Simon of Merseyside EF! reports:

"On the 1st day we stormed the fences, occupied cranes, piles of dead rainforest, observation towers and machinery; we hung banners off everything; we blocked the busy dock road; and freaked out the police and the press.

The ship failed to come in on the Tuesday, but the demo date was set for then by national Friends of the Earth, with the police, before they pulled out!!! So people stayed up the cranes all night.

They'd let us have our fun on the 1st day, but were determined that the ship would dock on the Wednesday. Under fear of violence, our press office got the media straight down there - our strongest weapon against foul play, but already the Police were wading in and holding people in a big cage in a warehouse. The ship came out of the lock. Hundreds of hearts dropped as we saw the name 'NIPS'. Activists tried to occupy capstans and ladders on the dock side before being dragged off by police, whilst people banged a deafening din on the fences all day. The dockers refused to unload whilst any of us were in any danger (good one!) but, in the end, the giant piles of once beautiful rainforest were unloaded."

Years of useless lobbying have achieved fuck all - ship actions have got results. The Malaysian government has pushed £2 million into their UK advertising to counter EF!s adverse publicity.

ST JOHNS COLLEGE SPIKED

ON NOVEMBER 5th, St John's College in Oxford became the first British victim of tree spiking.

In a communique to GA, green anarchists Arthur Rank and Arthur Mix reported celebrating Guy Fawke's Night by hammering nails and inserting ceramic pins into trees in Oxford University-owned Bagley Wood.

St John's College was a deserving target of economic sabotage. Locally, it is hated as one of the richest in the country - it's possible to walk from it to St John's, Cambridge, without ever leaving their land. Despite this, a quarter of Bagley Wood has gone under the chainsaw or auctioneer's hammer since 1986.

Echoing Winstanley, the communique warned that "our attacks will continue whilst the natural resources of the Earth are exploited as private property, rather than as a 'common treasurehouse for all'".

ST SHOPKEEPERS SAVAGED

THE LAST SATURDAY before Christmas, the High Mass of consumerism was trashed by twenty South Downs Earth Firstiers.

They blocked a main road in Brighton and backed up thousands of shopper's cars for half an hour as the first shot in their Carmageddon campaign. Faced by the frustrated motorists, police then broke the blockade to them continue looting and polluting the planet.

THEY CAN'T BEAR IT!

FRANCE: 80 environmentalists including Jason Torrance of Lea Valley EF!, Chris Lang of Oxford EF! and Davey Garland of Mid-Somerset EF! camped in the Valley of the Aspe to oppose a motorway that will decimate the last wild brown bear population in France.

On April 7th, 200 CRS riot cops broke their blockade with rubber bullets. Five Flemish and three German blockaders were nicked and when the rest went to the cop shop in Urdes, they were greeted with CS gas!

The motorway could be built at 10% of current costs through an existing rail tunnel without disturbing the ecosystem. The road is 'needed' for the infrastructure in the run-up to 1992 European economic union, along with such crap as the Kent rail link.

Let's hope the Basques are as busy with the Aspe tunnel as we will be with crowbars and crocodile clips working on the rail link...

PEAT BOG HEROES

FRIENDS OF THE EARTH spent two years asking gardeners to boycott peat. On April 6th, direct action was taken to stop Fisons looting Hatfield and Thorne Moors. The communique notes:

"All our peat bogs must be preserved in their entirety, for the sake of the plants, animals and our national heritage. Cynically donating small amounts will do no good. The water table will drop, and the bog will dry out and die, unless it is preserved fully. FISON'S MUST LEAVE ALL OF IT ALONE - NOW!

This is why I felt that I had to resort to direct action, causing as much economic damage as possible to their pumps trucks and machinery, in an attempt to slow the destruction down and make it less profitable.

Damage to the various engines etc. is estimated to be between £50,000-£75,000, not including lost production.

MASSACRE MOWLEM!

ROUND ONE!

THE BATTLE for Twyford Down, outside Winchester, began on February 15th. Twyford Down Association, Friends of the Earth, Lea Valley and Oxford EF! occupied a rail viaduct to prevent it being dynamited so work on the M3 through the Down could begin. The old bill biffed them off, but four EF!ers came back later chained themselves to the bridge, delaying work three hours.

FoE then set up camp on the Water Meadow, an SSSI blocking access to the Down, on March 1st. After celebs like Jonnie Porritt had finished token posing in front of the media, the Department of Transport forced FoE off with an injunction on Friday 13th.

ROUND TWO!!

The FoE camp was replaced by an EF! one on Oliver's Battery by March 20th. Before noon next day, 20 EF!ers stopped work by occupying site equipment.

Mowlem were still pouring concrete and activists were warded off by some broom-wielding psycho. We should have boshed him (no old bill about!) but instead blockaded a bridge leading to the site for three hours, until the cement truck was forced to dump its load before it set inside!

Joined by the TDA, 200+ then staged a Carmageddon action, backing traffic up the A303 for miles. As cops re-opened the road with half a dozen arrests, a carnival atmosphere ensued and Oxford EF! tried flooding the Water Meadow to bog down destruction there.

Fearing Mowlem would make up lost time on Sunday, someone trashed site equipment that night. Shocked at direct action, FoE claimed sabotage would alienate locals. They're in for a surprise if cops ever catch the sabs...

ROUND THREE???

EF! were banking on a Labour election victory to stop work at Twyford. Local MP, Minister for Roads Chris Chope, did lose his seat, found all his councillors going independant (unprecedented since the 1989 W. Oxfordshire poll tax revolt), and got a bit of bareknuckle class justice off one of his constituents. But the war goes on.

Elsewhere on the M3, ancient sites are due a trashing and as high priestess of green consumerism, Anita Roddick, sold land to the Ministry of Transport, wild Crossbush could end up under tarmac.

Carmageddon actions are now due - but there's more to do. Fuck the Body Shop, it's open season on Mowlem across UK - and on any sabbies on the M3 project too!

WALK IN, LOCK ON, WALK OUT

AFTER HASSLING ships and DIY stores for the rainforest connection, Oxford EF! turned their fire on tropical timber importers, Timbmet of Cumnor. Mahogany traded through Timbet is stolen from Brazilian Indians or illegally exported from the Philippines. The Arara, contacted only in 1987, will be lucky to see the Year 2000 thanx to yuppie cravings for posh bog seats!

On International Tropical Timber Day, May 11th, 200+ EF!ers from across UK hit Timbmet at dawn. They swamped cops at its gates and sealed them with bike locks. The workers had to climb a fence to clock on!

Inside EF!ers locked on to equipment and a 'Rainforest Not Toilet Seats' banner hung from a warehouse. Manager, Dan Kemp, broke up an EF! v. Timbmet workers football match to order work started at 10am.

Hand-loading trucks was impossible - someone 'lost' all the stock labels, timber was jumbled, and EF!ers sat on any pallets they started building. Even office work stopped due to a phone/fax blockade and post being stopped at the gates by the blockade. Earth Liberation Frontiers toured Timbmet 'losing' truck ignition keys, putting locks and fouling management's car petrol tanks.

Kemp had to agree an early end to work with Oxford EF!s Davey Garland by 2pm - at full pay. Workers went home through cheering EF!ers and under Green Anarchist and Class War flags flying from the flagpoles at the Main Gate.

A battle is won, but the war goes on. Timbmet has works on Cumnor Hill outside Oxford, at Witney in Oxfordshire and on Wood Lane, Rochdale. Readers will, no doubt, know what to do to them...

Let us hope that this helps persuade Fisons, and the rest, to put nature before profit!

The Independant put damage at £100,000 and lost production at ten times that. FoE Campaign Director and Porritt-like Old Etonian wanker, Andrew Lees, used Thorne Moor as an excuse to disassociate FoE from EF! In his 16th April confidential circular to local FoE groups, Lees and his sidekick, Doug Bourn, even implied local members would be expelled for collaborating with EF! Fuck 'em.

ARIZONA 5 BANGED UP

THE ARIZONA 5, entrapped by a $3 million FBI infiltration operation have recieved sentences of up to 6 years for trashing a ski resort. The State claimed they were part of "a radical deviant psycho-environmental movement".

THE MERSEY IS A TOILET...

MERSEYWATCH have found ICI dump 2 1/2 tons of mercury into the river a year - even the World Health Organization is worried. Shell dumps 3000 tons of waste oil, Panocem eight times as much carbon tetrachloride as they're allowed, Bathurst is choking the Mersey to death with oxygen-depleting matter, and Norsochem contributes a chemical cocktail so complex that even the river authority doesn't know what it is. That's on top of all the shit from Morganite, RV Chemicals, Unichema, Unilever, Consolidated Bathurst, Associated Ocel, Kemira and Laporte!

Now, for the sake of 200 dubious jobs, they're putting £800 million into a dumb barrage scheme that will wipe out an important bird colony - and trap all the chemical shit in the river.

Technocrats have come up with the 'solution' of incineration - so people will have to breathe poison as well as eat it in the form of toxic fish from the Irish Sea.

OPERATION IGLOO

ATTEMPTING TO prevent publication of Arkangel, cops arrested editors Vivian Smith and Keith Mann and raided seven addresses to seize the zines records on October 14th. Cops used hidden cameras, bugged phones and cars and vehicle tracking devices to make the arrests. Vi and Keith are accused of conspiring to torch 86 meat trucks and see them as ALF 'leaders', inciting every anti-animal abuse action in UK through Arkangel! They face trial in October. Despite this, Arkangel is still available from BCM 9240, London WC1N 3XX.

THE LUCOZADE HOAX

ARNI WERE bragging they stopped an ALF contamination plot when they arrested over a dozen people on November 13th. The 13th was really unlucky for the cops! Their mole had been bull-shitted and the arrests got 5 million Lucozade bottles dumped. Lucozade owners, SmithKline Beecham, also lost £130 million on the Stock Exchange and the public found out their vivisection beagles at Stock laboratory. Worse (for SKBI) followed when Lucozade bottling plants at Bolton and Little Hulton, Salford also came to the attention of ALF arsonists!!! [Sources: SARP/BEN/Arkangel]

ALIU IN ACTION

SINCE THE 1990 Thurgatton raid that started the Boots boycott, the Animal Liberation Investigation Unit has made five more inspections. The first three - at two factory farms and Lancashire Poly - passed without incident. On July 4th, ALIU inspected Cambridge University's Laundry Farm after ALF liberated three ponies on June 15th. They found no records of where dogs there came from and took eight with them when they left. Cops arrested 43 and recovered seven dogs. ALIU won't return the last a black Labrador called AP24, until Laundry Farm proves he's not a stolen pet. Angela Hamp now faces trial on November 15th. On October 5th, ALIU inspected Swales Moor mink farm, currently suing Lyax for exposing shitty conditions. A worker went mental and run down her husband with a tractor trying to attack inspectors. Cops then arrested ALIUers for violent disorder!

200+ SABS stopped all hunting in Cheshire on February 8th to commemorate Mike Hill's killing by Alan Scummegill the previous year. Cheshire Beagles didn't dare hunt. Whilst the Dodleston 31 are being railroaded in Mold Crown Court for expressing their anger at Cheshire Beagles arrogant contempt for Mike's death, Mike's friends have had to

OLLIE NORTH GETS THE BOOT

OXFORD GA'S REPORT: On November 25th, all-round scumbag Colonel Oliver North started a self-promotion tour at Oxford. His publishers, Blackwells, organised a fund-raising dinner for North at the posh Randolph Hotel, known for its racist and anti-union employment policies.

200 turned up to the Trot counter-demo, bleating "Ollie North, Go Home" from the other side of the road. We got bored with this and started blocking the Randolph's entrance. When cops moved us out the rich, fur-wearing diners way, we continued abusing them and showered them with phlegm and lighted ciggie butts.

North hadn't got the bottle to turn up for the dinner. When he arrived later, we gobbled on his windscreen and booted the side of his jeep. Later the Blackwells bookshop on Cowley Road was done over.

North's reception in Cambridge the next day was no friendlier. Green Revolution comrades greeted him with a coffin and burning US flags, while chanting "Legalise cannabis - ban cocaine" and "Ollie North, you're a thug - Terry Waite was your mug".

Religious egomaniac Terry Waite was kidnapped in Beirut because he did North's arms deals instead of trying to free the thousands of Palestinians illegally held in Israel since the 1986 invasion.

PLOUGHSHARES STRIKE AGAIN!

PLOUGHSHARES Emma Westwood, Chris Cole and Stephen Hancock spent two hours in USAF Fairford during a NATO exercise on March 12th to commemorate the Gulf War and resist Western intervention in the Third World.

Chris painted 'Mass Murder Machine - No More Bombing' on the bomb-bay doors of a B-52 and Emma hung a banner from its tail. She and Stephen were trying to get into the aircraft when a vanload of USAF arrived.

Cops then raided Stephen's room in Northampton looking for lists of "other targeted installations" and "articles for use to cause criminal damage". Why don't they do the same to the USAF, who killed 300,000 in the Gulf War? Civilians are still dying of disease as a result of the bombing.

MAXWELL'S LEGACY

DECEASED TOOL of the British secret state, Robert Maxwell came to UK in 1945. Despite his Zionism, Cap'n Bob landed himself a sinecure publishing Nazi scientific data through Pergamon Press, Oxford, the foundation stone of his publishing empire.

When nuclear technician Mordechai Vanunu told the Times about the Israeli bomb programme at Dimona in 1986, Maxwell tried to discredit him through the Mirror. Vanunu was then kidnapped by the Israeli intelligence agency, Mossad, on September 30th and has been serving an 18-year sentence in solitary ever since. Maxwell has also been accused of helping Mossad assassinate Canadian supergun designer, Gerard Bull, in 1990 [see GA24].

Was it corporate debt or exposure of his links to the secret world of intelligence that sank Bob late last year? Photoes of Maxwell's flabby corpse after it was recovered from the Atlantic published in the French press show extensive bruising, implying he didn't go over the rail willingly....

DEATH OF THE CITY

In an exclusive preview of his first book, Steve shows us the chaos in the cities to come. His vision of the future collapse of civilization is no fiction - it's already a Third World reality!

IF A CITY IS AN ORGANISM, this one is pretty sick. It's the people - there's something wrong. It's much too dangerous to set foot outside - day or night. You can see them on the pavements as you drive past. Kids begging with Alsatian dogs, gangs of teenagers with nothing to do. Old men lighting fires in the gaps between derelict factories.

I mean, what kind of place is this? It could be the moon, this devastated and pock-marked surface. The city authorities were going to build yet another traffic relief road through here - tore down all the buildings and then ran out of money, so all work stopped. There was the arson wave that bankrupted the insurance companies.

It's not all as bad as this - at least it's safe to go shopping in the Margaret Thatcher centre. There's plenty of shops here, tinkling musak and tinkling fountains surrounded by ferns. You have to get past the security guards to come inside - if the riff-raff from out there got in they'd loot the place and smash it up in minutes. There's things in here you just can't get in the outworld. But looking round in here there's something unsatisfactory. It could be the artificial daylight lamps or the air conditioning - there's nothing wrong with the shops, they're the same as you'll find in any city from New York to Tokyo.

I know it looks OK sitting up here in the seventh floor cafeteria of the Thatcher Centre. At least the postmodernist architects didn't get to destroy many of the buildings in this part of the city centre. Most of what you can see here is Nineteenth Century. It's safe up here but you can't walk out there. Did you see that old man? Tried to cross in front of that Securitor van. Too much to expect that a van like that would ever bother to stop for a red light... Much too dangerous here.

This coffee is dreadful. Still it's only a couple of hours to the rush hour. I hate it. You can see all those bloody awful concrete estates built in the 60's and 70's - not a street light working, no lights anywhere, fires burning on the waste ground, stolen cars burning, alienated kids completely stoned, wandering around looking for something to pay for the next fix. And that smell! It's worse in the summer with the piles of uncollected rubbish, and the places where the sewage pipes have broken and the stuff flows across the road - a sort of brown river of shit running along the street till it finds a grid somewhere that isn't blocked. The graffiti! When the traffic flow breaks down and you are forced to stop near a ghetto. Well, you know the whole motorway is covered by TV cameras, but that is a fat lot of good to you if the proles decide to come over and murder of few drivers on the offchance you're going to have some small change in your pockets just in case you happen to go somewhere which doesn't accept credit cards - as if such things still exist. I mean, you cannot be serious, only Art... pays cash...

In Rio many of the shanty towns have become no-go areas ruled by drug bosses. Neglected by governments, residents' needs are met by the bosses in exchange for silence and loyalty. Chronic unemployment and poverty recruit a ready army of young boys for the drug gangs.

OCTOBER 1991 / NEW INTERNATIONALIST

I saw two police vans drive into one of those estates the other day. A couple of groups of kids fired at them. It was a quite well worked out ambush. Then they burned the vehicles out. No, they haven't caught that gunman yet. He eludes the traffic from different tower blocks every day, they don't seem to be able to catch up with him. I don't suppose its that suspicious of be carrying round a high powered rifle. Mind you, it's bad enough running the gauntlet under those bridges, swerving to avoid the brick throwing kids. Their latest trick is to throw car doors or jurned out bits of bodywork, and every night the motorway claims a few more sacrifices in multiple pile ups. Everywhere you go you see them, smashed up, burned out. Nobody bothers to clear them away any longer, soon you won't be able to move for them. A petrol bomb just missed me the other night. Where do they get the petrol from?

You know that bridge just after the sign with the missing centre panel - the one for the science park - the bridge overgrown with grass, being supported by the scaffolding? You know that the traffic is going to stop thereabouts. The scaffolding? It's the usual story, corners were cut in the concrete specifications to get the motorway open before an election. The paint wasn't even dry on the white lines before the traffic cones went up, cars racing through the contraflow, it's hell isn't it? Strange that no matter how much they redesigned the road system the traffic jam always finds another weak point and the system clogs up again. For all their computer simulations, traffic flow counters and projected demands, they can't get it right...

No, one would risk the railway, quite apart from the muggers, what about the clapped-out rolling stock? And all the years of make do and mend on the signals and safety devices? It's a wonder it keeps going, I'm suprised they don't have more crashes, what with all this and that doctor failing his own drugs test the other month...

Do you have many break-ins up your way? Our estate now has two sets of 20 foot high electric fences and Rottweiler patrols in between. Somehow they still seem to keep getting in. We keep getting surcharges by the security company for the dogs they keep losing. I don't know, they probably get shot, or end up in the city centre attached to the beggars by bits of string. You can say one thing for the burglars, they're bloody fast workers. Mr Jones next door said something disturbing last week, he suggested that the criminals might actually live inside the estate. We had our window panes electrified last month. So far it seems to be working.

At least the sewage and electricity still work where we live. We had to install our own water collectors and purification plant from Japan. You can't get hold of them anywhere else. Damned difficult to find a qualified engineer to install. Somehow we managed. The things you have to go through to safeguard yourselves from cholera. Next thing we have to find are the filters, you have to have them changed every six months. It's quite a high area so you don't get much outfall from other areas... I saw an area sealed off the other day by the Health Force. Bubonic plague the notice said. Makes you see the scope of the problem when you get off the beaten track and find the streets all cracked up, and night-on impassable. Our estate has its own generator and coming back the other night during a power cut it didn't half stand out from the surrounding area...

the shanty towns sprawled on the hills around Lima, are victims of Peru's cholera epidemic. Nearly 1,500 people have died and around 200,000 have been stricken with cholera since the epidemic began. The bacteria - spread mainly via contaminated water - strikes and flourishes in areas that lack running water and proper sanitation services.

NEW INTERNATIONALIST / AUGUST 1991

I often wonder how all those poor bastards out there manage - no sewers, no water, no electricity. Total crime, no police. No hospitals, no jobs, no money. It's not surprising that there's food riots. They send in a riot force to "pacify" them and restore order, then the Food Minister goes on TV to promise jam tomorrow, but no bread today. We all know that the food supplies are collapsing, and what food is available is mostly of low quality... Remember how twenty years ago there were always talking about EC food mountains, but over-intensified farming was wiped all that out, now large areas of former farmland are an agricultural desert, the soils contaminated by chemicals. Less and less of the areas still producing are under our control. The Food Minister seems unreal somehow. GS... Minister saying "all's well". The electricless proles certainly won't be watching him on TV, so who is he fooling?

This is standard Sendero procedure. Peasants - under threat of execution - are told to produce only for themselves. The idea is to starve the towns of food. Eventually the urban poor will not be able to stand it any more and will revolt.

'Anything which gives people hope within the system must be destroyed,' said one aid worker.

NEW INTERNATIONALIST / JULY 1990

It's those pirate radio stations... They keep telling everybody to revolt - to take the law into their own hands - to burn out the rich. Every time there's a power cut everybody outside tunes into them on their battery powered radios. Lets face it, radio is the only media still going that gets across to the masses now that 95% can't read, and three quarters of the city is without electricity. The government say they're going to register every single transistor but that's a joke, they can't even get into some of those estates. They keep trying to capture the pirate's transmitters but don't seem to be able to.

It would be nice to go on holiday somewhere but I can never get the time. I went to the USA for an indoctrination course a few years back. The plane was delayed five hours for some technical problem. The week before some urban guerrillas downed a 747 with a heat seeking missile, and so we had to approach real low, and jink in between the skyscrapers while flares were shot out of the back of the plane to confuse the missiles. It made me feel like a politician having to travel about like that. I said at the time "never again" what with this and the chance you could get Lockerbie. When you leave the radar screen at this side of the Atlantic, it seems to be largely a matter of faith that you're going to appear on the radar screen at the other. They said the Yorkshire Republican Army claimed responsibility for the last one. Flights are so rare nowadays. We heard one go over the other day, and all looked up to make sure it wasn't a politician in a helicopter. The last thing we want are shot down politicians raining down on our heads. But it was only a light aircraft. We never used to bother looking up in the old days...

Like I say, it's the people. Look at them. There's no sense of cohesion any more, no social unity, no respect. Where did they learn all this violence and thievery? Sometimes you really get the impression that things are breaking apart. I keep saying that we're going to get out. But there isn't anywhere else to go. It's even worse in the countryside. At least here you can buy things and feel protected. But out there there's no police, no money, no government...

Things are so chaotic. Did you see the election results? Major's looking so odd, isn't he? Mind you, those lawyers he employs to find ways round the latest directives from Brussels are smart people. A lot of the people at the polling station didn't believe in him much either. I only did it out of a sense of social duty. The candidate stood up and said the usual platitudes. After the count. They're going to privatise the roads, well, what's left of them. Talk about a shrinking franchise - less than 5% of those registered to vote bothered even to turn out. I mean, what are the government doing about that bridge by the science park?

Huancayo is 12,000 feet up in the Andes and is a key town in Peru's civil war. The fertile countryside around provides Lima, the capital, with many of its staple foods. This area also provides energy via the Mantaro Valley hydro-electric scheme. So it is not surprising that Sendero Luminoso has become so active here. Electricity pylons are regularly blown up to throw Lima into darkness.

NEW INTERNATIONALIST / JULY 1989

Like I said, it's the bloody people. Where did they learn to lie and cheat and thieve and steal from? There's no social cohesion - you'd think there was no such thing as society. They ought to be given jobs and made to repair things. You can't even get bearings for machines now. What'll happen when all the bearings wear out? Compulsory work, that would get things going again. But the government is too blind or stupid to see that. Mind you, all this stuff about a new Japanese satellite launcher factory is obviously just another scam to get a twelve billion ECU grant out of the authorities. We all know they're never going to build the thing. This latest idea of trading names and trade marks of defunct or non-existent companies is brilliant. Why waste your time making things when you can get rich manipulating electronic transactions at a terminal... Oh shit, it's another power cut...

RADIO WARS

Arm yourself with the knowledge needed for war on the streets!

COMMUNICATIONS ARE VITAL to the State. Everybody knows that it uses computers to watch us and controls us with credit ratings and criminal records. Information is useless without access to it - usually via computer terminals using telephone lines. These links enable the State to communicate, command and co-ordinate its agencies, and now people are waking up to just how fragile that net which ensnares us all really is.

One obvious aspect of government communication are police radios which operate on 143-144 MHz, 146-148 MHz and 154-156 MHz (no doubt there are other frequency bands).

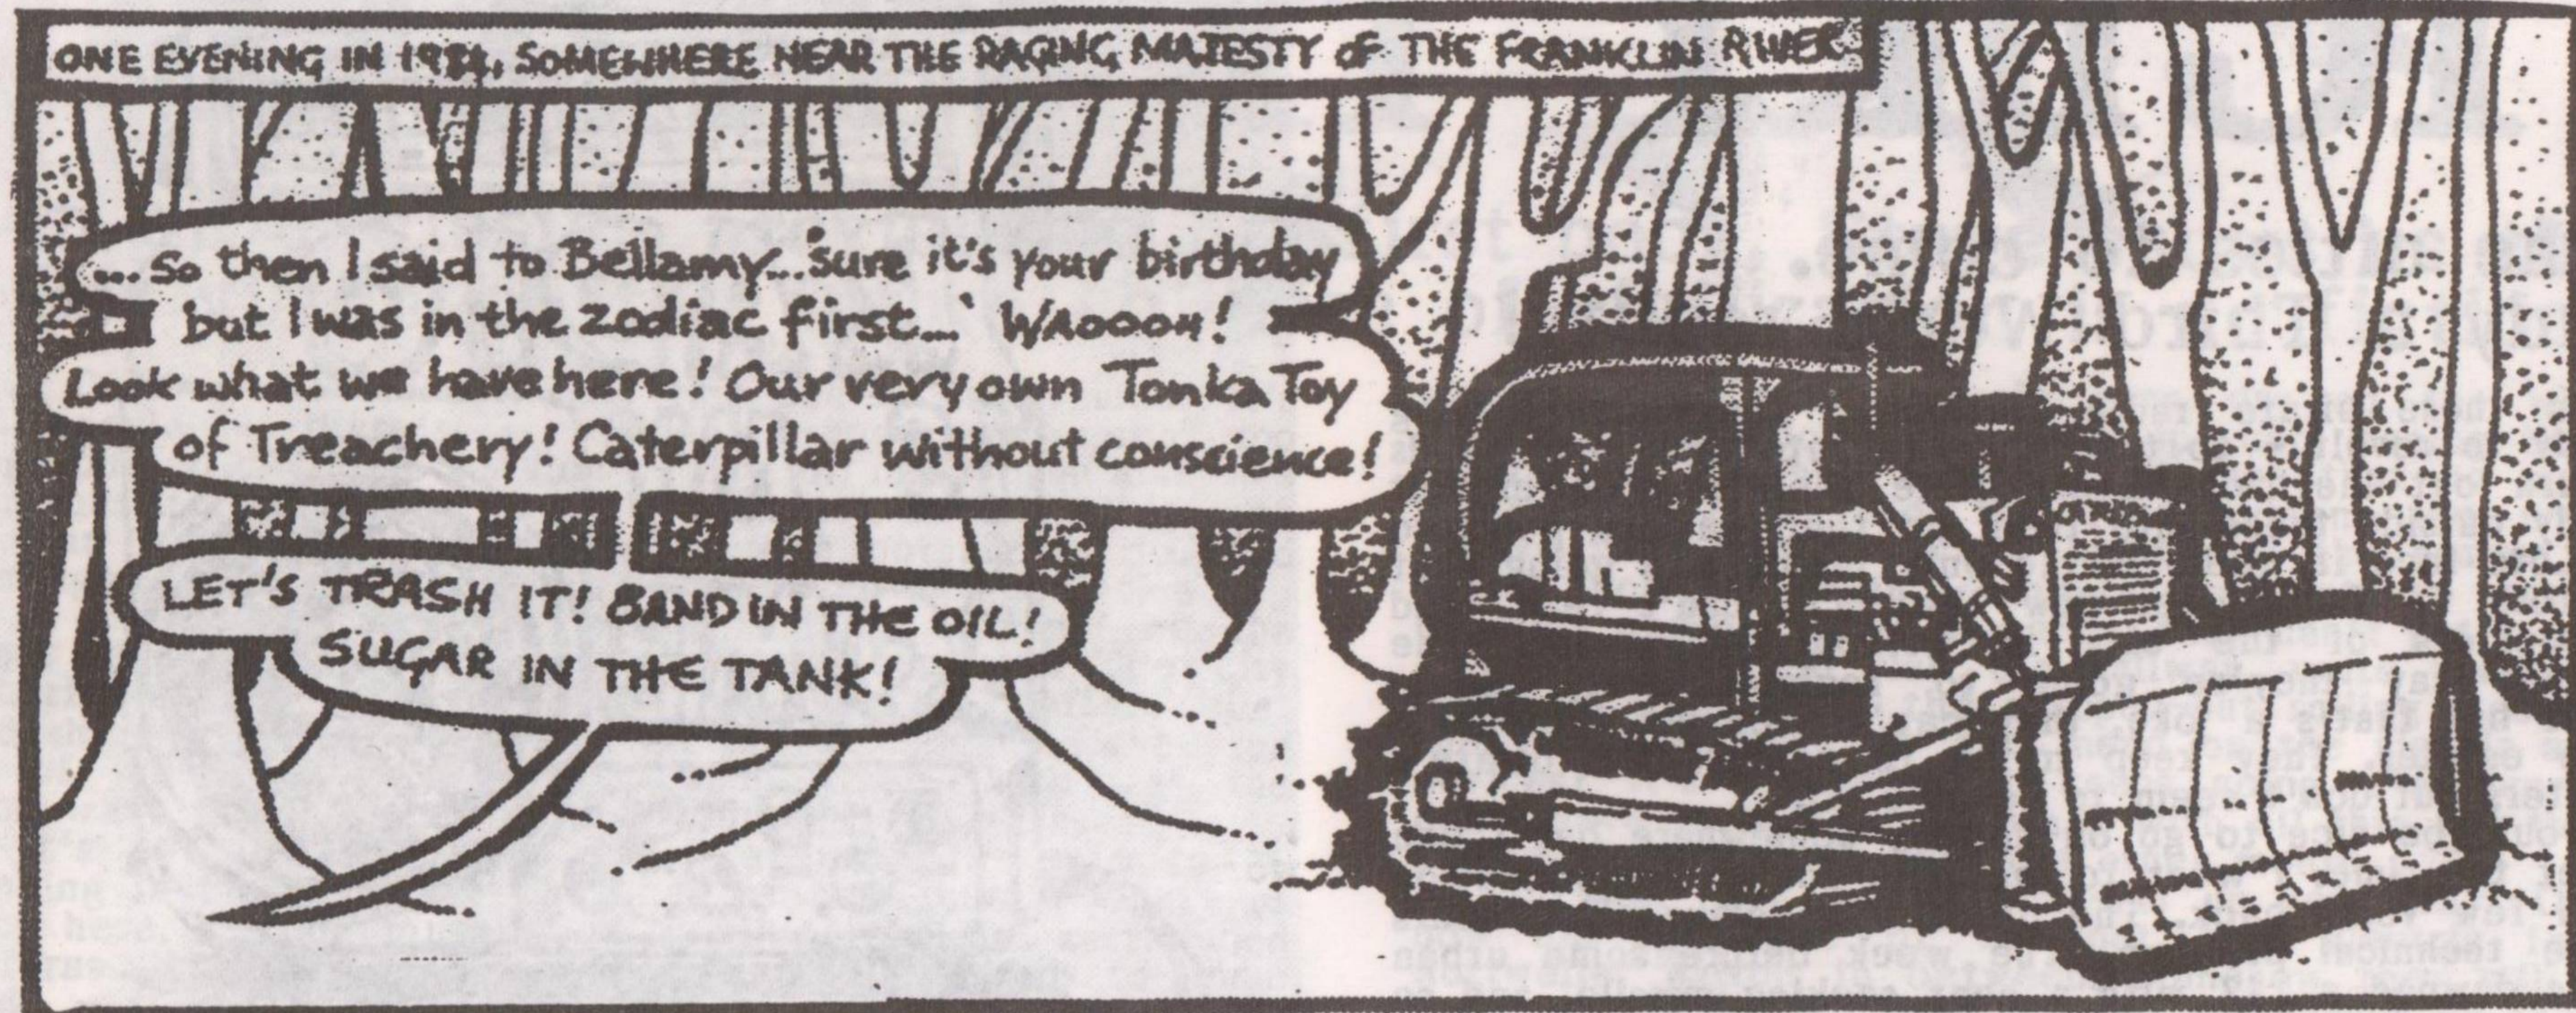

By obtaining a scanner it is possible to find out exact frequencies and listen to them. People with CBs might know where to look, failing this scan through these bands in 12.5KHz steps - eg 152.00 MHz, 152.012, 152.025 etc. Keep a log of frequencies and call signs, eventually you'll sort out everything if you're systematic and scan all those bands.

PC Plod's hand-held set operates on one frequency, the control centre on another, so you only get one side of it. You won't intercept the mobiles except those working in your local area, but control frequencies push out quite a lot of wattage from those big aerials on the roof of your local police station, and you can hear them 40 miles away, maybe more if you are high up with a good aerial.

Callsigns easily link to areas or places because control directs mobiles to specific places - eg. a callsign is directed to go to a break-in in a certain street or place - that location must be within the patrol's patch. Also, late at night units are always calling in with car registrations for the control operator to check out on the Police National Computer (PNC). Obviously most of these will be in the area of the caller. If you collected addresses read off by the controller linked with the callsign they will cluster round that units' area of operation. The more up to date forces have 'Sellcall' - a system of dolphin squawks which send silent computer messages to the cars or instruct units to call in for further orders.

The payoff to all of this comes when something big happens (like a riot) or you go out to carry out any action. At the least knowing local cop frequencies will enable you to listen in, know what they are doing, and take evasive action if necessary. If you can, nick cop radios and use them to listen in and 'key out' the frequency when anything important starts to go down. They might be used to mislead cops by sending them on wild goose chases. In the longer term a simple jamming system is being developed enabling people to listen in and take out cop radios when that all-important moment arrives.

MONKEYWRENCHING DRIVES ME NUTS

George French states his case against ecotage

MONKEY WRENCHING is the eco-terrorist response to the rape of the Earth. It includes such activities as vandalising machinery, blowing up dams and spiking trees to prevent logging. The theory and practice of monkey wrenching has a mixed ancestry. It includes Luddism, the anti-Vietnam protest movement and Greenpeace. The eco-terrorist is dedicated to the overthrow of the western 'world-view' which mistakenly claims that the rape of the earth is natural and inevitable.

There are a number of problems with monkey wrenching that seem to get pasted over by the enthusiasm and satisfaction such actions can generate. Close examination of these problems bring into question the arguments in favour of monkey wrenching as currently practiced. Rather than helping to dismantle the dominant paradigm monkey wrenching only sustains and reproduces it.

The first problem is that the use of aggression and violence is seen as legitimate. Yet the eco-terrorist world view is about the end of human violence and the break out of peace. Eco-centric development can be measured by the degree to which it reduces human aggression and increases compassion. In this context every act of aggression and violence undertaken by eco-terrorists merely adds to the sum of such acts already happening around the globe. Hating the dominant paradigm and wanting to give it a real kick in the teeth merely adds to the monumental amount of hate that already exists.

A second problem with eco-terrorism is that it is reactive rather than proactive. The military-industrial-capitalist complex decides which bit of the earth it will next rape and the eco-terrorist scuttles off in pursuit. It results in the dominant forces setting the agenda while eco-terrorists must act and think on the hoof. This reactive element means that eco-terrorism can be accommodated within the dominant ideology. Logging machines threatened with destruction can be insured, thereby propping up the money market which feeds on destruction. The replacement logging machines involve yet more industrial production, which brings about yet more rape of the earth.

FORWARD WITH THE EARTH LIBERATION FRONT!

GA's editor PNR argues we must defend the Earth by all means necessary.

A third problem with ecoterrorism gravitates around the populist act of spiking trees to prevent their logging, and the ecocentric notion that trees, like all living things, have inviolable rights. Hammering home large bits of metal into trees undoubtedly invades their rights but is justified by arguing that it is better to be spiked than logged. The eco-terrorist claims that the means justifies the end or consequential values must dominate deontological values. But is the eco-terrorist not supposed to be opposed to means/end way of thinking in the west. The spiking of trees is legitimised in the same way the allies justified the saturation bombing of Dresden, Hiroshima and Nagasaki. In sum, bad actions may need to be committed in order to secure a just end. I think such an argument leads down the well worn road to fascism.

The final reason why monkey wrenching drives me nuts is that it traps one in the dominant world view. Rather than realizing and articulating a new ecocentric 'form of life' - which must be incommensurate with existing 'reality' - eco-terrorists pore over logging machines in order to discover the best way to disable it. They scan the media and planning applications for new signs of earth abuse when they should be creating a new reality. In consequence eco-terrorists have an 'anti' reputation in the sense that they seem to know what they don't like but are very vague on the specifics of a new paradigm. Eco-terrorism may have a nominal impact on the material rape of the earth but fails to subvert the psychic forces which precipitate it.

But all is not lost because any eco-terrorist worth her salt knows that a 'settlement with nature' consists of global reforestation with humans living in anarcho-communalist woodland cultures. In this context the truly radical act is the planting of trees. Trees are the cutting edge of ecological and social transformation. Global reforestation will heal the earth, secure the well-being of future generations and bring to an end the Malthusian notion of scarcity. On this foundation we can build truly human scale communities which generate, rather than destroy, genetic diversity. The politics of the tree are that it provides a radical, yet non-violent solution, to our crisis of consciousness and environment. The promotion of a tree-centred culture undermines on every level the dominant ideology which makes the rape of the earth seem a normal, even beautiful. The western world view oppresses us by making us believe that the tree can only be pet, status symbol, leisure facility or merely dead wood. The eco-terrorist must expose this fallacy by vigorously articulating the benefits of post modernist wood centred cultures and planting lots of trees. In the UK a 'settlement with nature' demands the planting of 5 billion trees so don't waste any time in swapping your wrench for a sapling.

GEORGE'S VISION of a settlement with nature through the retribalisation and reforestation of the Earth is consistent with GA's goals. Only small communities can organise themselves free of hierarchy and silviculture is the best means for these communities to achieve the self-sufficiency needed to maintain their decision-making autonomy.

But ethics aren't relevant to a biocentric perspective - morality is uniquely human - and an ethic of nonviolence isn't directly relevant to green anarchist means and ends. The dominant ideology - that a hierarchy of being exists, with those at the top having an inalienable right to exploit those beneath them - legitimises the State's monopoly of violence and the State in turn maintains the dominant ideology through its laws and the means available to it to inculcate and enforce them. By empowering ourselves, we reduce the State's rationale for existence. Our goal is the autonomous existence of all beings, our means are by superseding the power monopolies that prevent this.

It's simplistic, however, to argue that the State does not set the agenda. Tree planters risk being treated as trespassers and their trees, once grown on another's land, risk being turned into timber to the profit of the landowner. If tree planters challenge the dominant ideology, they engage in a power struggle with the hierarchy. Their actions are as "reactive" to the destruction of the Earth as others using different resistance tactics, and are as illegitimate in the eyes of the State.

Defending trees already grown and integrated into the existing ecosystem is at least as important as planting more. Tree hugging and sitting are more likely to play a role in ecological resistance in UK than spiking - most trees in this country are destroyed because they stand in the way of 'progress and development' rather than for timber - but the practice itself has been unfairly maligned in the past and should be defended.

Unless copper spikes - which poison trees - are used, they suffer no harm. It's pretty anthropomorphic to think a tree - which has no nervous system - experiences spiking as a human being would and hysterical to equate this necessary 'vaccination' with fascism, carpet bombing an open city or nuclear attack!

Sea Shepherd captain Paul Watson wrote to Earth First! Journal last year claiming to have invented the technique in the early-1980s. Anyone who has read Ecodefense knows that spikes should be hammered in above head-height and an anonymous claim of responsibility made afterwards. The idea is to stop logging, not injure loggers. In over a decade of spiking, EF! has never injured anyone. Such 'area denial' can't be insured against and many thousands of acres of old growth forest have been saved from the sawmill by it. As the ALF have shown, wholesale economic sabotage doesn't prop up the banks at no cost to the exploiter anyway - the fur trade was crushed and the Dewhurst chain is being smashed by such tactics as a result in the rising costs of security and insurance premiums.

The decision to drop tree spiking in the 1990 Redwoods Summer campaign was made for specific, local reasons. The California Redwoods covered a small area patrolled by trigger-happy maniacs and owned by timber companies who didn't give a shit for the safety of sawmill workers. The false equation between Foremanism and tree spiking is shown up by Live Wild Or Die! continuing to advocate such tactics where Californian-type conditions do not apply. As anarchists, they rightly argue direct action is always more empowering than lobbying with your arse.

As of this April's Brighton Gathering, EF!UK has decided to confine itself to civil disobedience, to attract numbers and publicise their case. It falls to the Earth Liberation Front to directly intervene where they cannot. EF!UK will publically "neither condemn nor condone" the ELF. Direct action is needed to create a free society in harmony with nature, so why not follow EF!UK's example?

LETTERS

Green Anarchist wants your letters, but remember:-

* We print all letters recieved. If you don't want your letter, your name, or your address printed, make sure we know.

* We will ruthlessly edit all letters over 150 words long. So keep 'em short and let everyone have their say. Letters we've cut are marked with a () with the original number of words inside the bracket.

* We don't respond to letters in print unless asked, even those we don't agree with. Anarchy is about thinking for yourself, not expecting us to come up with twee answers. So your letters are your responsibility, not ours.

PEOPLE TO PEOPLE

Dear Comrades:

As we experience a development of faster communication and increased interdependence between all people, it is time to realize that our knowledge becomes more and more abstract, being based upon apparently objective information and secondhand description.

To successfully meet the challenge of the future, it is essential that we can act from personal experience.

People to People Friendship Association (non-profit) is working for information on a subjective level, through a network of people sharing knowledge they are part of.

Letter exchange is one way to get firsthand information about life in different parts of the world. That's why PPGA also is connecting people on a personal level (North/South penpal links). For an International Reply Coupon, contact is provided to Africa, America, Asia and Oceania.

So - reach out your hands to the world. Let us join in friendship and take care of our planet to create a common future.

PPFA c/o Soren Groth, Industrig 9:1, 15300 Jarna, Sweden.

CALLING GANDHIANS!

Dear Editor,

Through this letter which is being published in different publications I am attempting to reach out to many thousands of people around the world.

More than forty years after his assassination, Mahatma Gandhi remains for millions an inspiring figure and powerful symbol of resistance to injustice. Since Gandhi's death, his message of truth and nonviolence has taken root in many parts of the world.

his advocacy of nonviolent resolution of conflict and of nonviolent living patterns has taken on increasing poignancy and urgency, particularly since the realisation of the threat to our global environment. Now, too, Marxism is fading and the questing some asked long ago, "Marx or Gandhi?", also, has a new importance.

Sharing a profound belief that the historical potential of Gandhi's philosophy has not yet been realised, some friends and I have begun a new organisation, the International Gandhian Movement. With a quarterly journal and a Gandhian educational resource mail-order service launched, among other early initiatives, we are now ready to seek the support of those sympathetic to the Gandhian ideal around the world. It is the ideals for which the IGM stands and is working, embodied in our Charter, that we are really seeking support.

I therefore invite you to become a Supporter. For details write to The Coordinator, IGM, PO Box 304, Heidelberg, Victoria 3084, Australia.

Your sincerely,
Stephen Murphy.

FROM FRESHFIELDS

Dear Green Anarchist,

I've been stuck in the same caravan on the same animal sanctuary with the same old smokey woodburner (retch retch) for over a year now, with no sensible conversation or manic correspondence, so anybody who likes dogs, sabbing, turning policemen into dogs (a mollie makes 'em go woof) who can write, may want to write to me, also suggestions on how a bloke can move a caravan with no wheels that doesn't even belong to him would be much appreciated. I haven't bought GA for ages up until #28, so I haven't got much to say for myself except in reply to Pete Parry of Portsmouth - soldiers could always turn their guns on the real enemy, or at least refuse to use them on our communities.

Yours for the Liberation of EVERYTHING

Pip the dogman, Freshfields, East Lodge Farm, East Lane, Ince Blundell, Liverpool L29 3EA.

LOCK HIM AWAY! (443)

To Green Anarchist -

I was about to subscribe to GA when I read Richard Hunt on the gulf war and almost threw up. I forced myself to finish his vile disgusting sick article and this is the result -

If you have a war-mongering misogynist despicable prick like him writing for you the whole GA is negated.

Does he know 100,000 PEOPLE were killed by us and the US in the gulf war?

I'd like to see Richard Hunt dead for publishing such a gross article. If not dead I'd like to see him locked away from participating in any 'anarchist society' that could exist and where no woman could feel safe from rapists who are protected by the likes of RH.

He is the lowest of the low and deserves to be outcast by any green anarchist community. He has blood on his hands, and seemingly revels in it. He disgusts me, and the whole mag makes me sick for including his news in its pages.

Richard Hunt is stuck in the land of make-believe. It is typical of an 'intellectual' anarchist, divorced from reality - he pursues the same idiotic rhetoric 'brother and brother' etc.

What a lot of bollocks.

He supports imperialist genocide and oppression of women in his own community under the banner of so-called anarchist 'freedom' from the system. Can't he see he's obsessed by the same idiotic reasoning which runs the whole system at the moment?

He says sanctions wouldn't have worked - how does he know? Is he some sort of prophet or time traveller? He dismissed the thought in such a glib and patronising way you'd think he ran the world himself.

He makes no reference to the destruction caused or deaths and injuries by the invasion of Iraq and Kuwait by 'allied forces'. I suppose he believes its all just like a video game.

He has a sick mind, just like the war mongering system he lives under.

GA has lost its direction in letting this racist trash get published.

I'm not for nonviolent action at all times, but distinguishing between a legitimate fight by oppressed against oppressors - not supporting the superpowers diving in and crushing nations 'on behalf' of. That is exactly how the US + Britain acted. But I would happily see a painful death imposed on Richard Hunt - if he thinks it's OK for 100,000 others then why not for him?

It is quite possible that less damage, destruction and deaths would have resulted from sanctions, and the gradual work of the resistance movement within Kuwait and anti-Saddam factions within Iraq.

Its time for self-determination not extermination.

This 'gulf war' article by RH has rendered the whole of GA unreadable. I hope you get a better direction some day.

ZD from Sunderland.

RICHARD HUNT

Dear GA,

A few years ago I was involved with the magazine in a peripheral way and remember several others such as Del, Alan and Kate who like me and like you, thought that Richard Hunt can at times be stubborn!

However I don't think any of us thought that GA would continue without Richard basically because none of us had the same level of commitment to producing a magazine as Richard had.

I was both glad and sad to read that he had resigned. I just wish he could remain involved without being in charge. Richard has so much to offer. I hope he will be able to continue to write for the magazine and that his work will receive the attention and criticism it deserves.

One thing is certain, that Richard has always been provocative, just as GA has been. Long may both continue to be so. Anything but boredom!

Finally a plea, that we should be able to agree to disagree more often. A free society can only be achieved if first we free our minds. Good luck to the 'new era' GA and good luck to Richard Hunt - may both thrive and continue to work together.

Paul Whymark aka Pablo from Oxford.

VIOLENCE IN WELLINGTON (747)

Green Anarchist -

There was no attempt to burn down the police station in Wellington. When a demo [over Ian Gordon's death] was prevented from reaching the station, there were shouts of murderers. Police claim stones were thrown, an excuse to bring in a helicopter and force demonstrators back to Hadley. Police & press pretended demonstrators were violent, justification for killing Gordon, as if they didn't know he was mentally unbalanced.

Night after night the neighbourhood was kept awake with the helicopter & police chased anyone who was out of doors, trying to provoke violence. When the West Indian Association marched from Hadley to Wellington, shops were forced to board up by the police who said that their insurance would be otherwise cancelled. This gave the impression of a community under siege. The effect of this was that whereas after the shooting no one had anything but criticism of the police, by the time of the march, they backed police & assumed Gordon was violent.

Your account is the sort of nonsense that the Right Like disseminated, though even it didn't invent arson.

The label community worker was given me by the Guardian; being white I am not a member of the West Indian community although I've been involved with them over the last twenty years.

Laurens Otter of Wellington, Shropshire.

PS: I've just worked out your story of the police station being torched.

On the Thursday after Psycho's shooting, a vandalised phonebox outside a former police house in Donnington was partially burnt. Weeks later, some NF were cautioned for it. Rumour has it they had been drinking in a pub, they had a punch-up as they came out & the phonebox was then done. It's unlikely they burnt it in protest against police racism.

The only connection between that event & Ian Gordon is that one of the NF came from Wolverhampton; & they planned a counter-demo against the main protest march.

When police forced traders to board up, the pubcan of the West Indian Association's pub & a printer who works for them & local punks were told that if the punks and West Indians didn't break their windows, the NF would & police would be too busy to keep them in order.

PATRIARCHS PISS OFF!

Dear GA,

I know you publish all letters written, but I'm surprised you bother with the sour ravings of 'JGH of Torreveiga'. Does this guy really imagine that once he's killed off all the males, the young females (he's ageist as well as sexist) are going to welcome his attentions at all? Fortunately women tend to go for a man they like and fancy, who gives them more fun and excitement than JGH has probably had hot dinners. Also, he doesn't appear to have heard of women's right to choose to bear children (of which I'm sure GA approves). It ain't so easy nowadays for would-be patriarchs to spawn out a sizable tribe!

All the best,

Karen Noble of London N12.

PS: I know the letter was a pisstake, but if you published recommendations to chop off testicles or shove men into stud farms, there'd soon be a protest! (Wouldn't there?).

SAY 'TA' TO DINNER

Dear GA,

Re. Survival:-

If you want to live off the land, get a book or two to help you start identifying what bits of what plants you can eat - 'Food for Free' or some of the Collins Gem Guides.

If you wait to see if you can eat the limited fungi and plants in your article, then you'll starve waiting to see if you can.

Remember to say TA to the plants and the animals you might kill. If you kill it, eat it or use it.

Lastly, remember to take salt with you because it's hard to find and your body needs it.

Love

Jamie of Edinburgh.

BOOK REVIEWS

'GREEN RAGE: RADICAL ENVIRONMENTALISM AND THE UNMASKING OF CIVILIZATION' BY CHRIS MANES. LITTLE, BROWN & CO, 1990. 291pp, £6.95.

As an energetic inside history of Earth First! and an expose of reformism within the US environmental movement, Green Rage has much to recommend it. Unfortunately, under the pseudonym 'Mis Anthropy', its author made the cretinous comments about AIDS as Earth's cure for Third World 'over-population' in the Earth First! Journal that led to the 1990 split. As such, he doesn't give Judi Bari and other organisers of Redwood Summer the credit they deserve.

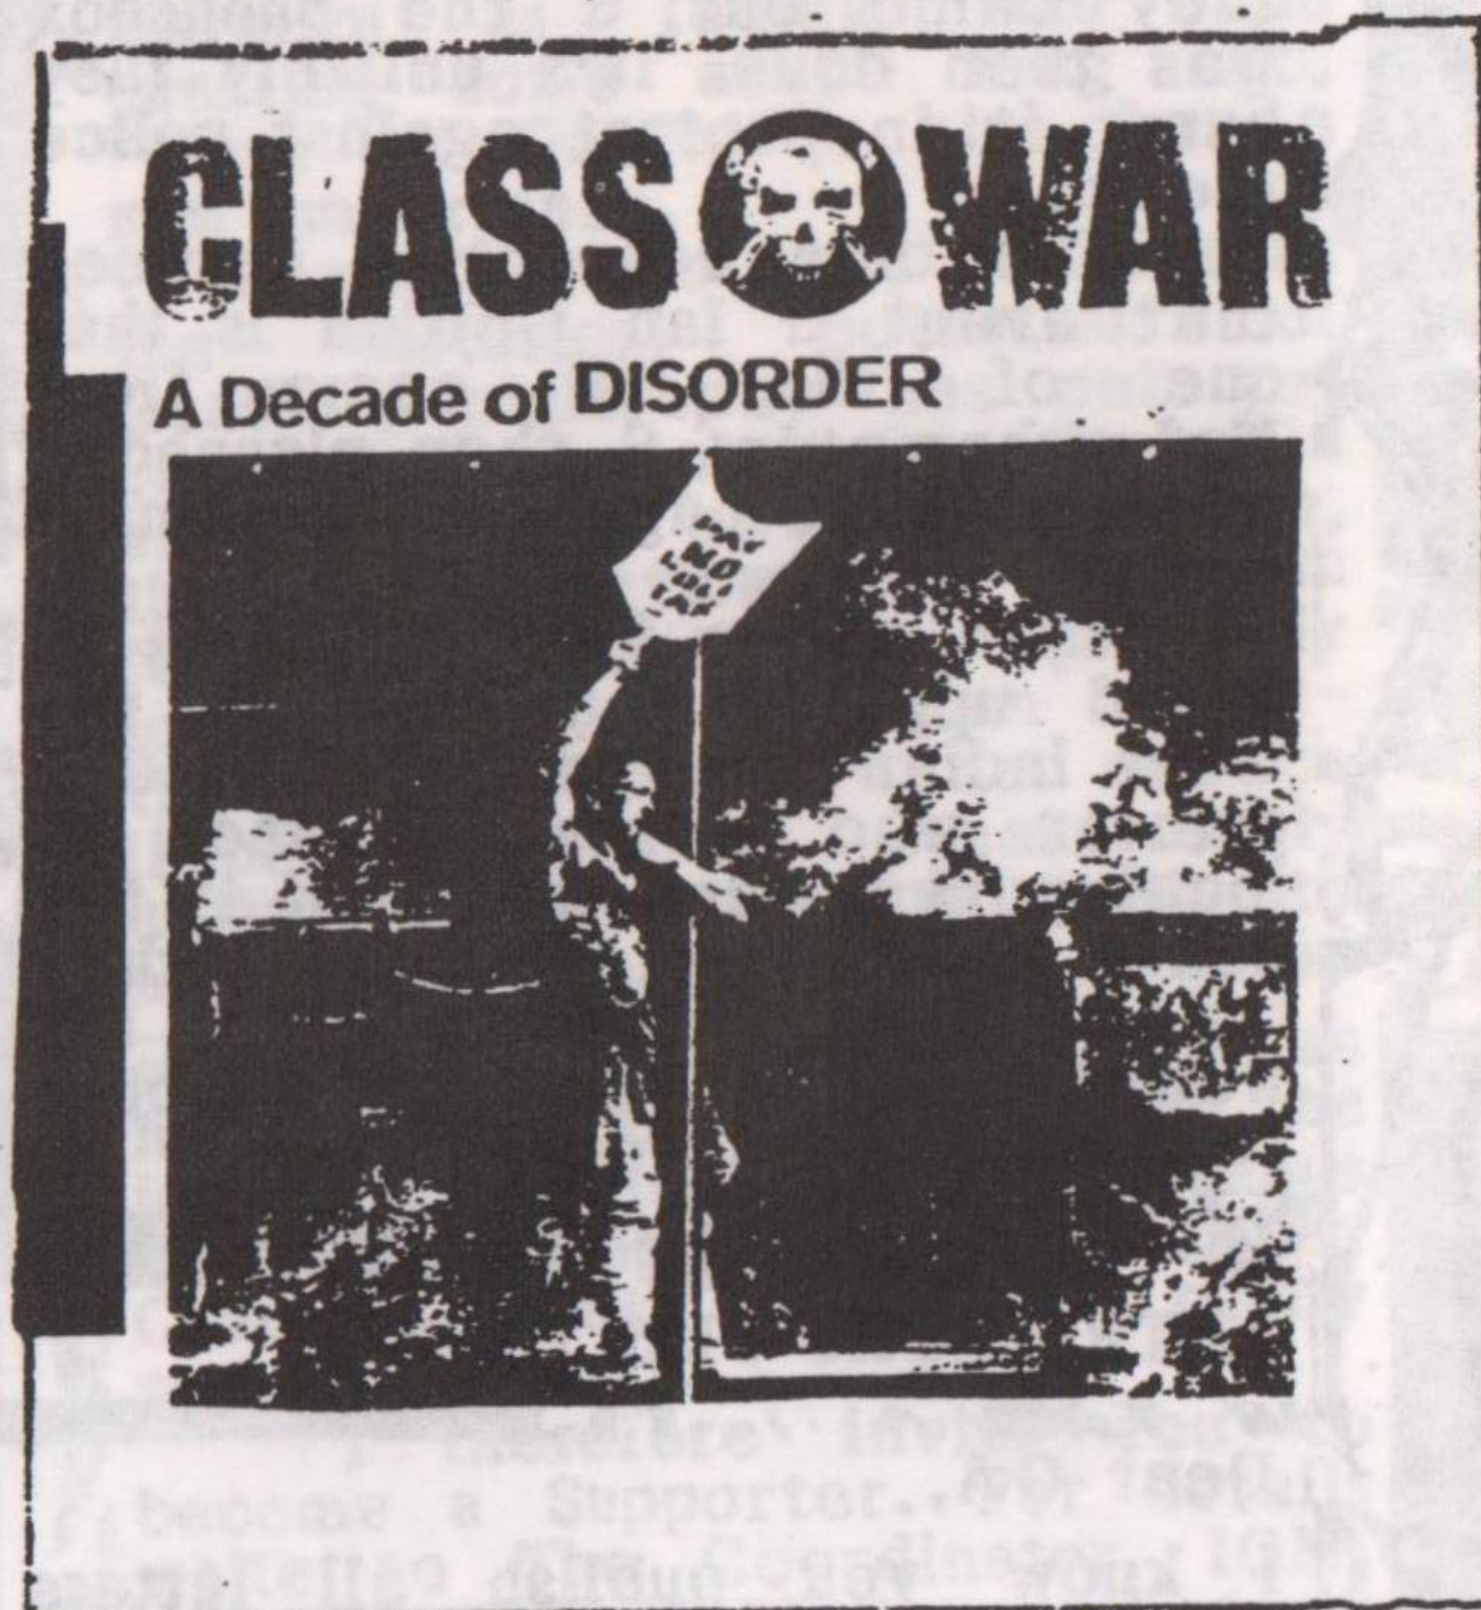

Manes effectively attacks technocracy and advocates the retribalisation of society, but his responses to Bookchin and Bradford's critiques of deep ecology following his EF! Journal comments are moronic. Consequently, resisting wilderness destruction matters more to Manes than resisting the civilization destroying it - mass rioting by German anti-nuke activists is dismissed because they don't "have a natural landscape to defend".

A fine book for 'radical environmentalists', but not so fine for revolutionaries...

'CLASS WAR: A DECADE OF DISORDER' EDITED BY IAN BONE, ALAN PULLEN & TIM SCARGILL. VERSO, 1991, 113pp.

This slick scrapbook of cuttings from Class War charts its history since it first got together in 1984.

They say Class War "reported the great eruptions but the paper was full of snippets about everyday struggle too". The articles reproduced in Decade Of Disorder are all written in the unobtrusive Class War style we know and love, but apart from stuff on the poll tax, Strangeways, the Gulf War and Penn Wood, it all dates from before 1986! The only recent "snippet" was a call to pull the plug on hospitalised copper, Sir Peter Imbert.

What we want to ask is 'Has the heart gone out of Class War?' There was a time when the only apology CW made about hospitalised coppers was that "we can't fill the whole paper with them". Now we've got to wade through a double-page centre spread asking "Why Violence?"

Decade Of Disorder ends with a rather perfunctory section on fascism; racism and sexism (and with no mention of patriarchy or heterosexism!) - and a couple of pages on Class War Now. Boasting about membership schemes, Fed regulations, sticker and paper sales is some call to arms! Come off it, guys - get back to your roots and get stuck in!

'CHILDREN IN SOCIETY' BY STEPHEN CULLEN. £1.20 FROM FREEDOM PRESS. 143pp.

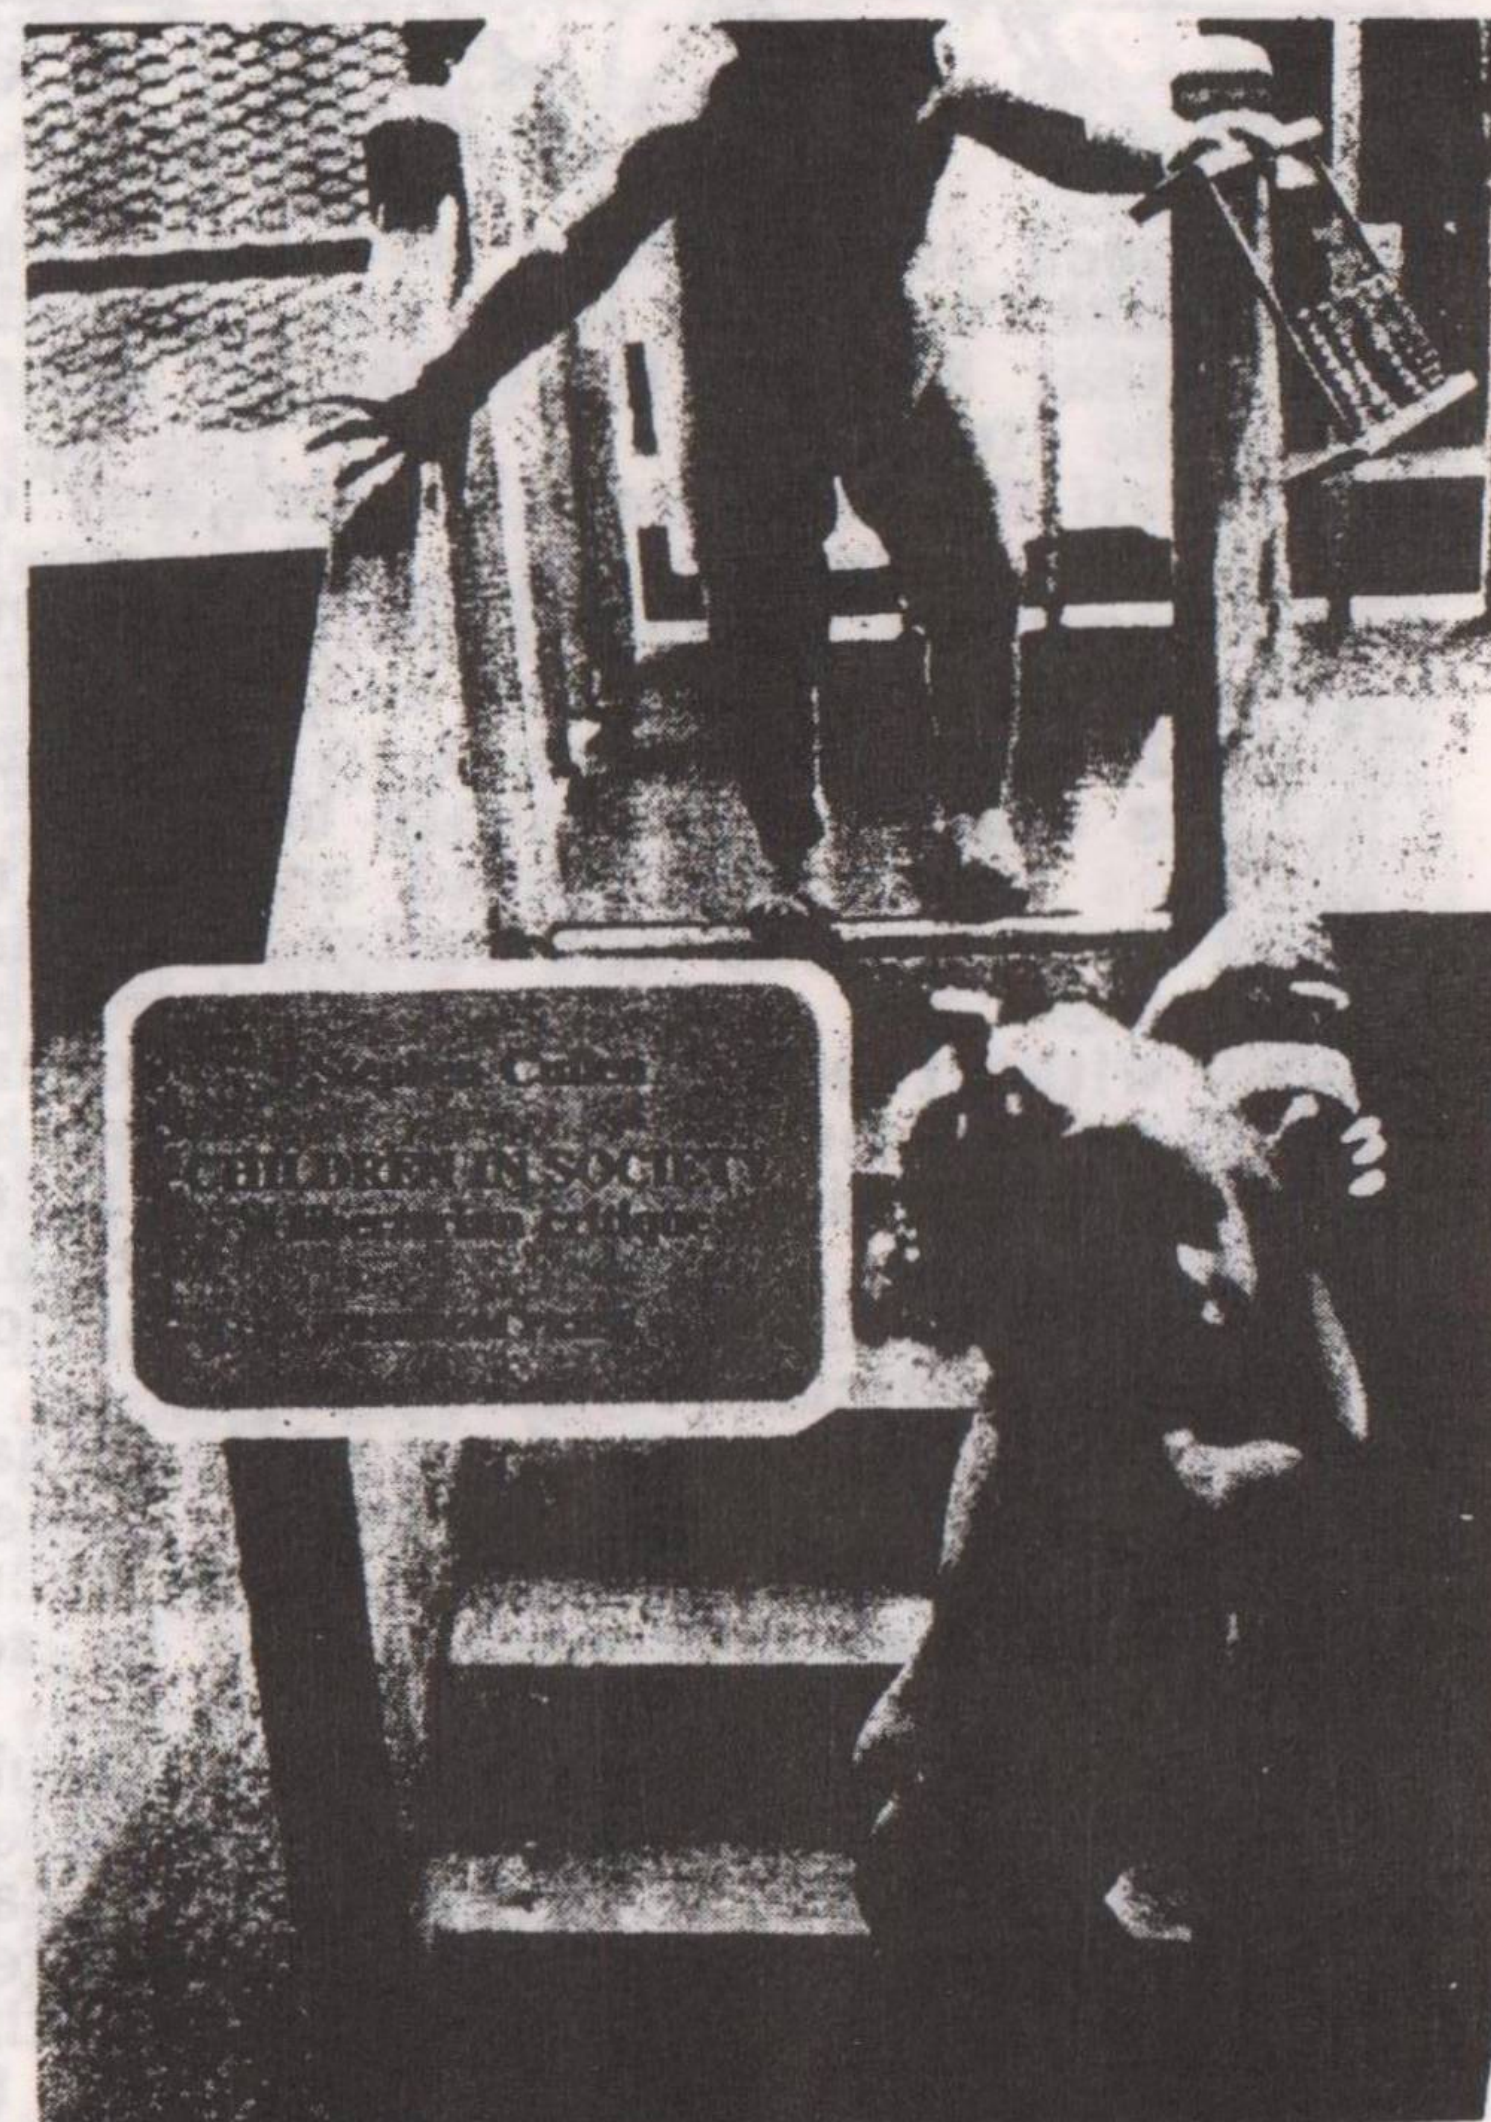

Part of the Freedom Press Anarchist Discussion Series, its a well-written booklet on a libertarian criticism of how society as a whole 'moulds' its children.

The first chapter, Children and Parents, discusses how raising a child to a timetable disciplines the child from the cradle and shows how a child has no real voice or right in society when it can be smacked or hit by an adult and no-one cares.

The second chapter is on school, where the so-called education is just to create cogs - for industrial society and not people, with 'efficiency' being its measure. School children again live by rigid timetables and patteredns with information being rammed into them. Schooling for the child is a painful process.

3 covers health care, suicide, anorexia and depression due to role models created by the press and individuality is destroyed by schools. It points to the dangers of additives and pesticides on the child.

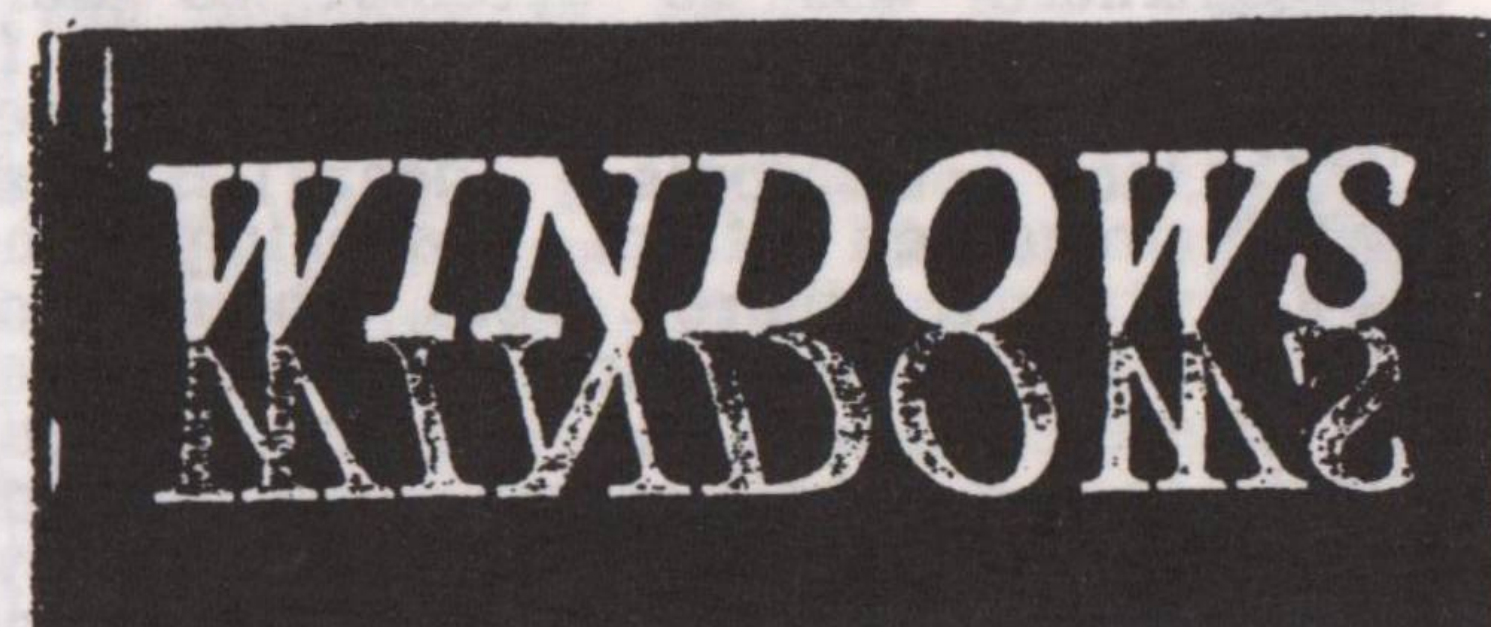

Children And Market covers marketing for the young and how it destroys the individual and their imagination, like the Mutant Turtles.

The conclusion is to treat children with love and respect and abandoning industrial society of mass consumer capitalism based on the child. This is a good book and hopefully people will start to look at a child's right and the child being father/mother of the person is the start of a free society for the future.

SAXON

'WINDOWS' BY SLAVEN JELISAVAC. REBELLION POETRY, 1991. 101pp.

Written by a young Australian poet of Yugoslavian heritage, Windows reveals a pro-situ consciousness in its crafted attacks on technocracy, imperialism and on the imposition of work.

The line structure of the poems and heavy use of alliteration means you can rattle through them at speed. It's worth it - so why not get yourself a copy?

'INFLUENCES' BY COLIN WARD. FREEDOM PRESS.

It's strange when someone who's had a major influence on your thinking shows you their influences, the tradition goes on. Ward comes up with no bombshells (Thatcher isn't included), although Herzen on politics is a refreshing choice.

Two points emerge from this book strongly, that anarchism is the radical alternative not only to socialism but also liberalism - it is a synthesis of the best of both - and what a nice, decent human being Ward is.

In his Introduction, Ward pours scorn on those who offer laurels to those who died on the right side in Spain - all Colin sees is the death and waste. In a cynical age where niceness and decency are perjorative terms, Ward shows that without such values, any 'revolution' is a waste of time. Well worth a read.

PAMPHLETS

'ANTI-MASS METHODS OF ORGANISATION FOR COLLECTIVES'. SHRINKING PUBLICATIONS, POX 610, EDINBURGH EH15 1UG. 20pp, £1.

Seemingly distilled from the detritus of 1960s Maoism, this anthology of dissenting voices should be required reading for all activists critical of the dogma of mass organisation, mass protest, mass communications, mass thinking - and ultimately mass society itself.

A vital shot in the arm for the 1990s anarchist movement.

'MEGA SALES DRIVE'. SSAE FROM BM MAKHNO, LONDON WCIN 3XX.

We all know Nintendo is a rip-off for brain-dead wankers.

This mini-pamphlet says that's not all that's wrong: "The consoles are a vehicle for the colonisation of large numbers of minds by a... tiny group of professionals". Aside from the macho sexism of many of its game-plots, Nintendo isolates its nerdish consumers from "real community where people relate to each other as equals in a deep and non alienated way".

Mega Sales Drive is worth getting in itself and as a model to understand the societal impact of other technocratic 'innovations'.

'THE BIGGER TORY VOTE: THE COVERT SEQUESTRATION OF THE BIGOTRY VOTE' BY NICK TOCZEK. A.K.PRESS, 1991. 46pp, £2.50.

The cover art is crap and the price too high for under fifty A5 pages, but this pamphlet is a masterpiece of anarchist research into the most sinister aspects of contemporary British racism and fascism.

Lobster fans will be familiar with the technique of presented convoluted complexes of relationships between Tory and far-Right personalities and organisations straight and without diagrams or summaries to help. If you're new to this style, get yourself a notebook before you start reading!

SURVIVAL

OTHER USES FOR CHAINS

Wanna be a one-person Carmaggedhon campaign? Then start turning your chains into caltrops.

What you need to do is to get gloves, a pair of boltcroppers, a length of narrow-link chain and fuse wire. Put on the gloves and wipe down your equipment to remove prints. Cut the chain up into four-link lengths. Then cut the fuse wire across diagonally into short lengths, so each length ends in sharp points. Twist two lengths of fuse wire onto each link, making sure each end finishes at a 90 degree angle from the other. Whichever way the finished caltrop falls, at least one spike with face upwards.

This way you can produce dozens of caltrops an hour without resorting to a welding torch. Each is capable of puncturing a tyre if the vehicle is travelling at speed. 20 or 30 are more than enough to make a major road unpassable. Do be careful about throwing them into speeding traffic though. You wouldn't want to cause a multiple pile-up, would you...?

CALCIUM CARBIDE

This stuff used to be used for bike lights - check around to specialist shops to see if it still is or see your local chemistry supplier.

When added to water, it produces acetylene, a highly reactive heavier-than-air gas. One spark and BOOM!!!

Obviously, you've got to use your common sense before you use this stuff. People could get killed if you just dump it into car radiators or down bogs where folk are likely to go chucking lighted ciggie butts on the floor.

Probably a better idea is to use a candle or incense stick as a timing device - as a heavier-than-air gas, acetylene flows downhill like water. The higher up your heat source, the longer time you have to get away...

CYCLOPATH

LEVELLERS - LEVELLING THE LAND

The second LP from one of the best Alternative bands around. This album takes over where 'Weapon Called The World' leaves off with outstanding punky folk. There isn't a bad track on the album and the nice thing is they look to be a bunch of anarchists. This album is a must if its the only album you get this year. The blend of violin, magdolin, guitar, bass, vocals and drum set each other off great. Better still go and see them live and see for yourself.

NO MEANS NO - 0 + 2 = 1

No Means No have released a lot of very good material and this album is no exception. The Camden trio aren't as bouncy as on earlier albums in places but if you liked their other albums, you'll like this and its a lot better than the recently released 12". The use of a tumbling bass with rap/rant vocals is very pleasing with a noisy guitar with a few surprise bits. Not their last LP but well worth getting with a number of very good tracks like 0+2=1 and others on Side 2.

HOLY ROLLERS - FABULEY

Another DC band in the view of Fugazi with dancy drum bits, tight guitar and driving bass with well worked vocal changes. If you're a fan of DC punk or interested in hearing some, this is recommended. 'What You Said' is a great track reminding me of White Flag for some reason. Sadly this album is not very long.

BLYTH POWER - GUNS OF CASTLE CARY

Blyth Power have been around for years with drumming/vocals by Josef Porton of Mob/Zounds fame. This is a very good folksy punk band with classic songs like Paradise Sold and Inside The Horse plus spot the lines lifted from Chumbawamba and Kylie!?!.

MUSIC NEWS

Dick, ex of Subhumans/Culture Shock, new band Citizen Fish, will be releasing a follow-up album to the excellent Free Souls In A Trapped Environment out about February '92.

Watch out for Internal Autonomy's new single about with a new LP from Words Of Warning out sometime in 1992.

Back To The Planet, the reggae ska outfit with female vocals are rehearsing a 3 track 12" soon as a follow-up to their 'Warning the Public' tape. Should be good.
